UKRAINE WAR MAY GO ON FOR YRS: NATO CHIEF

Jens Stoltenberg's warning comes as Ukrainian president vowed to retake areas that have fallen to Russian forces. Stoltenberg's prediction suggests the world economy could possibly plunge into an unprecedented recession. Poorest countries would take the biggest hit. On a positive note, Ukraine's president Volodymyr Zelenskyy, visiting the Black Sea city of Mykolaiv on Sunday, vowed to restore all that was destroyed. P11

Top defence officers rebut criticism, say Agnipath on

Draft notification today; Army plans 83 rallies

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

WITH the general situation across the nation easing a tad after days of violent protests, the government fielded senior tri-services officers as well as from the defence ministry to rebut criticism, convey that the short-term Agnipath recruitment scheme was very much on, and to indicate a broad timeline of its rollout.

Fielding questions on whether the government proposed to review or roll back the scheme, Lt Gen Anil Puri, additional secretary in the Department of Military Affairs, shot back, "No, why should there be a rollback?"

He said the objective was reduce the average age of the personnel in uniform. "I will give you an example. Do you know how many casualties are reported just for health purposes from high altitude areas? Do read about it, then you would come to know why young is important," he said.

Lt Gen Puri warned that the protesters will find no place in Agnipath. "The Army's foundation is discipline. There is no space for arson or vandalism. Every individual will give a certificate that they were not part of the protest or vandalism. Police verification is 100%; no one can join without that. If any FIR is lodged against them, they can't join," he said.

As for allowances, Agniveers will get them at par with regular soldiers. Also the family of any Agniveer sacrificing his/her life while on duty will get a compensation of ₹1 crore.

While experts have wondered why the defence ministry did not see the need to run a pilot project, Lt Gen Puri suggested the first batch of 46,000 hires was meant to do just that — analyse the outcome to tweak the scheme if needed.

"In the next 4-5 years, our intake will be 50,000-60,000 and will increase to 90,000-1 lakh subsequently. We've started small at 46,000 to analyse the scheme...and to build up infra capacity. Our intake of Agniveers will go up to 1.25 lakh in the near future," he said.

Air Marshal S K Jha said, "Agniveer batch 1 registration will start from June 24 and from July 24, phase 1 of the online examination process would start. Training would commence by December 30."

As for the Army, Lt Gen Bansi Ponappa said a draft notification on the hiring will be issued on Monday. In all, 83 recruitment rallies would be organised across the country.

Vice Admiral Dinesh Tripathi said the first batch of naval recruits would join training by November 21. In the first batch, 3,000 Agniveers will be inducted into the Navy, of whom 20% will be women, said sources.

Ex-serviceman's role in Dharwad stir under lens

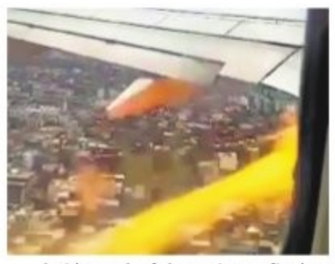
BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE role of an ex-serviceman has reportedly come under the police scanner in protests held against Agnipath - the Centre's newly introduced recruitment scheme for the armed forces -- at Hubballi-Dharwad on Saturday.

According to informed sources, the ex-serviceman (name withheld), who runs a coaching centre for military recruitment at Dharwad, had allegedly taken part in the protests in which 42 protesters were detained and later released, "His role in the protests has come under the police scanner. He is still to be traced," said the sources. "The protesters included Army aspirants, others and an ex-serviceman," they added. In Bihar, which has witnessed large-scale violence and protests against Agnipath, coaching centres for military recruitment are being investigated for their alleged role in instigating arson and vandalism.

Meanwhile, in Karnataka, Additional Director General of Police, Law & Order, Alok Kumar told TNIE that those participating in protests in Karnataka against Agnipath will not be eligible for any government job. P7

185 flyers escape as Patna-Delhi flight catches fire



A video grab of the engine on fire | PTI

Was it 10 minutes or 15-20 minutes?

Soon after the safe landing, there seemed to be some confusion about the duration for which the plane remained airborne. Airport officials said the emergency landing took place within 10 minutes of the takeoff while many passengers claimed they spent "15-20 minutes" inside the plane

RAMSHANKAR @ Patna

AS many as 185 passengers of a Delhi-bound SpiceJet flight had a narrow escape on Sunday as one of the aircraft's engines caught fire shortly after take-off following a suspected bird hit.

Flight SG-723 took off from Patna airport at 12.04 pm. According to airport officials, "soon after the take-off, the pilot noticed there was an engine problem as the wing started emitting smoke and flames and loud noises."

The pilot promptly turned off the engine and contacted Air Traffic Control to make an emergency landing. The Boeing 737 landed in Patna at 12.22 pm, 18 minutes after it took off.

"The flight landed safely and all 185 passengers, including two infants, de-boarded safely. A full emergency was declared at the airport and the situation was dealt with effectively," airport director Atul Prakash informed.

According to Patna district magistrate Chandrashekhar Singh, people living close to the airport alerted the district administration and the airport authorities after they noticed smoke coming out of the plane. The airport administration alerted the ATC, who radioed it to the pilot. The pilot, however, was aware of the situation by then. After receiving the clearance from Air Traffic Controller, the pilot landed the plane on one engine. The fire was doused soon after landing and there is no serious damage to the fuselage.

After de-boarding, passengers shared their experiences. "I have never gotten so scared in my life," one of them said. "We felt tremors inside the flight soon after it took off from the airport and raised an alarm. But the cabin crew asked us to keep quiet," another said.

The post-landing flight inspection showed that three fan blades of the jet's left engine were damaged in the suspected bird hit.

The airport director said the airline made an alternative arrangement for stranded passengers to reach their destination.

Fertiliser shortage across state, complain farmers

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

IT is the kharif season and sowing has started. This is the time fertilisers are needed the most. But farmers from across the state are complaining that there is a severe shortage and black marketing of this crucial input for their farming activities. The demand is the highest in June and July and any shortage, either due to lack of supplies or hoarding by unscrupulous traders, will lead to big shortfalls in agriculture production.

"Traders are charging higher than the actual price. How can poor farmers afford it? A group of 200 farmers will carry our produce and protest in front of the tahsildar's office at Afzalpur in Kalaburagi on Monday," said farmer leader Ramesh Hoogar.

A farmer from Afzalpur, Baganna Kumbar, said "DAP is being sold for Rs 300 more than the marked price. We have complained about it to agricultural authorities." Protests are spreading across the state. A few weeks ago, farmers, led by Kurubur Shanthakumar, agitated in Mysuru district. P6

Police, Def depts top defaulters of water bills

Police dept owes ₹49.73 cr, Defence ₹26.43 cr

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) is left with unpaid water bills of over Rs 147.5 crore, with defaulters being government departments, led by the police, defence and Railways.

With a monthly collection of Rs 110 crore as water and sanitation bills, the water board runs on a no profit-no loss basis, said a top official. It depends on bill payment to carry on its daily affairs.

Statistics on arrears up to May 2022 reveal that the police department owes BWSSB Rs 49.73 crore, Defence Rs 26.43 crore and Railways Rs 18.73 crore. Banks, Postal and Telecommunication Department, PWD, maternity homes, public urinals, Education, Forest and Horticulture departments and BBMP figure among defaulters.

Unlike in the case of individual consumers, BWSSB refrains from disconnecting the service to government departments as a large number of staff and the public could get impacted, said a top BWSSB official. "Water charges have remained the same for over a decade, but our power charges due to pumping of water have doubled to Rs 70 crore per month now. We depend a lot on our bill collections," he added.

> Water charges have remained the same for over a decade, but our power charges due to pumping of water have doubled to Rs 70 crore per month now.
> A top BWSSB official

Nisha James, Deputy Commissioner of Police, Administration, said that since April 2020, the Police Department has been paying the water bills regularly. "The pending bills are the legacy that we have inherited. Earlier, all families staying in the quarters paid the same bill and there was some opposition to it. That has been changed now with families paying only for the water they consume. It is not possible to track our past residents, many of whom have retired, and make them pay," she said. The water board must waive off these charges as they include penalty for non-payment, interest and fines in connection with rainwater harvesting and sewage treatment plants, she added.

Additional Divisional Railway Manager, Bengaluru Division, Kusuma Hariprasad said the Railways paid up all its monthly bills. "The Division paid Rs 22 crore for water bills for the last financial year and has earmarked Rs 23 crore for this year. What is still being billed in our account is the penalty and interest on that. This sum needs to be waived off," she added. She said that in fact, BWSSB owed the Railways Rs 28 crore over the last three years for non-payment of 'Way Leave' charges for using its land to lay pipelines.

Citizens protest over demolition of activist's house

BENGALURU : Citizens of Bengaluru have risen up in protest against the demolition of the house of Welfare Party of India leader Javed Mohammad and activist Afreen Fatima in Prayagraj, Uttar Pradesh. They are showing their support in various ways, including painting bricks. Bahutva Karnataka, a citizens' forum, made a call for communal harmony and organised a peaceful protest in the form of a community art event 'Join for Justice, Paint for Peace'. Organised at Cubbon Park, volunteers gathered on Sunday to paint bricks and other materials, to symbolise the bulldozing of the activists' house last week.

Metro's U-girder replaces span, cuts work time

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a first, a U-girder was launched by Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) in the early hours of Sunday at Doddanekkundi. Girders are the sturdy, horizontal structures placed above the pillars, on which rails are laid for operation of trains.

U-girders can be erected quicker and involve economy of design rather than those used in Metro's Phase-I. The girders will be laid on both Phase-2A (Central Silk Board to KR Puram) and Phase-2B (KR Puram to Airport) lines, totally running to 58.19km.

A top Metro official told TNIE that the girder, running 28 metres, was readied at a yard in Hoskote by Shankar Narayana Constructions, and brought to Doddanekkundi late Saturday night using a special trailer. "It was erected post midnight. Erection of a span (28-m block between two pillars) usually takes us anywhere between 6 and 8 days in the traditional method. However, using U-girder technology, we can complete one span in three hours," he said.

Two cranes, one that could carry a maximum weight of 700 tonnes and another that could carry up to 400 tonnes, were used to lift and place the girder.

Around 1,600 U-girders will be laid along the two lines and it could take between 1.5 to 2 years for work to be completed, the official said.

The U-girder technology reduces 6 to 8 days of work to three hours

Mithun's body fished out after 34 hrs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AFTER a 34-hour search operation, the body of civil engineer Mithun Kumar (28) was fished out from an open drain in KR Puram on Sunday morning. Mithun, a resident of Gayatri Layout in KR Puram, was washed away in the storm water drain (SWD) right next to his house on Friday night, after heavy rain lashed Bengaluru and the city outskirts.

Dr KV Trilok Chandra, Special Commissioner, BBMP, Mahadevapura Zone, said the search operation resumed at 7am Sunday. A team of 50 NDRF and SDRF personnel was deployed to search for the body soon after the alert was sounded on Friday night. They had searched areas over a 2km distance from the spot.

Kumar's house is next to the storm water drain, that was swollen with rainwater. Water from the adjoining areas was also flowing into the open drain.

Kumar, who tried to save his parked bike from being washed away, fell into the drain. Though his friends tried to lift him out of the drain, they failed and he was washed away. BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the government would give Rs 5 lakh as compensation to Kumar's family. His body was handed over to the family after postmortem. The last rites will be conducted in his native Sagar, in Shivamogga district, on Monday.

Kumar's younger brother Satvik had filed a police complaint. In another incident on the same day, 62-year-old Muniyamma died after a compound wall collapsed. Due to heavy rain, about 400 houses were also flooded in KR Puram and Mahadevpura on Friday night.

MISERY FOR PEOPLE CROSSING RLY GATES

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

DELAY on the part of the Bengaluru Railway Division in asphalting the road beneath three of its level crossing gates on the Lottegahalli-Banaswadi route has brought misery for drivers and pedestrians.

TNIE visited the two level crossing gates (gate nos. 148 and 150) located a short distance from the Hebbal railway station and witnessed the chaotic scenes whenever vehicles had to cross the gates.

Many vehicles with pillion riders just stopped in the middle of the tracks and the other person alighted. After crossing the tracks fully, the pillion would get back on the vehicle. The front wheel of a few autorickshaws passed but the back wheels got stuck.

LC gate number 150 is extremely busy as it connects Nagashettyhalli with Kodigehalli. Arun Kumar, a businessman, who rides a two-wheeler, told TNIE, "I manage with great difficulty but the elderly and women struggle the most. The vehicle gets stuck in the steel portion."

Ram Prasad, a shopkeeper said, "I have seen workers on behalf of railways come over and fill the place above the tracks with sand. However, the sand gets eroded." A common refrain from many others was the traffic. Gate number 148 has the same problem but is not bogged down by snarls as it in an isolated area. It connects the Mohammed Layout to the Railway Station Road.

Divisonal Railway Managaer Shyam Singh said, "A total of 7 gates were overhauled. Asphalting was done in four gates."

HONORARIUM HIKE FOR GOVT GUEST FACULTY

BENGALURU: The education department has revised the honorarium of government school guest teachers and increased it by Rs 2,500. This would mean government primary school teachers, who were previously paid Rs 7,500 will be paid Rs 10,000. Meanwhile, government high school teachers, previously paid Rs 8,000, will be given Rs 10,500 instead. However, teachers and education department officials demanded that honorariums paid to high school and primary school teachers be hiked to Rs 15,000 and Rs 12,000 respectively. The revision comes after around six years with government guest teachers across the state having demanded the hike for months.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

20th June: Are you one of those people who thinks that politicians are just actors, putting on a show? If so, you could just be right. Back in the 1950s, the French statistician Michel Gauquelin showed that two groups of people are born with certain Jupiter configurations - indicating acting ability. One is actors. And the other is politicians!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Everything is now looking extremely favourable, largely because three planets in a wonderful alignment to your sign are about to be joined by a fourth - and later by a fifth. It is essential that you maximise your advantage by maintaining an optimistic attitude.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You'll have a chance to show yourself at your best within a few days. For now, though, you must prepare the ground by taking care of those boring but necessary duties like trudging around the shops - or dealing with partners who think that you're their personal unpaid servant.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
A number of odd and slightly tense events are on the way, if not today then certainly by tomorrow. The general mood will improve if you make an effort to put yourself in somebody else's shoes. See the world as they see it; you might be pleasantly surprised - and intrigued.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
An interesting point known as the Moon's south node has now turned its gaze in your direction. This may incline you to repeat past mistakes over the next few months. If, however, you learn certain fundamental lessons, your trials will not be in vain.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Help is on hand. Those intense celestial aspects which have been disturbing you recently are no longer causing trouble. Their only legacy may be a number of regrets, a little bad feeling and, for some, a broken heart. Please now realise that your stars are taking a dramatic turn for the better.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You can now afford to stop thinking quite so hard. Pressure in parts of your chart connected to communication should make the options and alternatives that much simpler. If you can possibly look a fresh at old and tired emotional complications, please do so.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Matters close to home are quite complicated, but then there's nothing new in that, is there? The advantage over the next week or so is that you can afford to talk about your fears and share your hopes with people who, for once, will listen. The very fact that they are prepared to examine your plans anew is encouraging.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You're flexing your emotional muscles, life is getting better and you should be able to relax, be happy and let the world flow by. The only problem, which may be insurmountable, is your famous inability to forgive and forget. Don't let regrets or resentment stand in your way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
A perfect aspect to Jupiter, perhaps the single most important planet in your horoscope, should set you up for a splendid time, perhaps lasting a couple of weeks. If anything goes wrong, it will be your fault. That's good, because it means that the remedy also lies in your hands.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You might lower your sights today. It's not often I offer such advice, but the point is that if your standards are artificially high, you'll limit your horizons and miss out on opportunities, even minor ones, for family contentment and job satisfaction.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Friends may be too rushed even to say 'good-morning', but don't take it to heart. If people are indeed too speedy for you, it's probably nothing more than the planets' way of keeping you on your toes. Actually, it's a perfect moment for stopping the clock and signing settled agreements.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Professional life is posing awkward questions, and public responsibilities raise intriguing possibilities. Some of you may be woken up from a daydream to find you've lost touch with reality. Events will move fast, and you may have to think on your feet.

Kannada activists attempt to remove Hindi banners, detained

Posters were put up to welcome PM Modi; Only Hindi not acceptable, they say

KRV acitvists blacken welcome banners in Hindi on Mysuru Road on Sunday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HIGH drama prevailed on Mysuru Road and in RR Nagar on Sunday, after several pro-Kannada activists, including Karnataka Rakshana Vedike, tried to remove and vandalise welcome banners put up for Prime Minister Narendra Modi, as they were in Hindi. The agitators alleged that the BJP government is supporting Hindi by putting up such banners.

A senior police officer said that more than 500 persons belonging to pro-Kannada organisations went to RR Nagar, Vijayanagar and Mysuru Road and tried to remove the banners. Vijayanagar and RR Nagar police detained them and sent them back, as tension gripped the area.

Praveen Shetty, president of Karnataka Rakshana Vedike, told The New Indian Express that the BJP government is insulting Kannada by putting up welcome banners in Hindi. "We will never tolerate this attitude by the government. We won't allow only Hindi boards in and around the city. Police took our activists and members to the police station, but we will not stop our fight," he said.

Meanwhile, heavy police security was deployed on Mysuru Road following the incident, and security was tightened at venues where Modi's events are scheduled.

Sannerappa, a KRV activist, said they have no problems with English banners. "Had the banners been in Kannada and English, it was fine. Only Hindi is not acceptable," he said, alleging that the banners were put up by minister Muniratna, who has been selected by Kannadigas. MYSURU ALL SET FOR ITS YOGA DATE WITH MODI

Home minister visits Palace where PM will take part in Yoga Day celebrations tomorrow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru, Mysuru

AHEAD of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Mysuru, Karnataka Home Minister Araga Jnanendra on Sunday inspected the Mysuru Palace, Chamundi Hills, Suttur Mutt, Maharaja's College Grounds and the roads that the former will take to attend the events.

The PM will arrive in Mysuru on June 20 evening on a two-day visit. Modi is all set to participate in the International Day of Yoga celebrations on the premises of the Mysuru Palace on June 21 morning.

"We have to be proud that the PM has selected Mysuru for the celebrations. Yoga is the biggest contribution the country has given to the world. Close to 186 countries celebrate International Day of Yoga. Adequate security arrangements are in place in Mysuru," Araga told the media.

Without giving an exact number of personnel deployed to manage security, Araga said the Home Department has deployed the required number of personnel. "The security team includes personnel from the KSRP and the Police Department," he said. "Security has been heightened following the recent arrest of a suspected terrorist in Bengaluru and the protest against the Agnipath scheme ," he added.

'Congress responsible for Agnipath protest'

On the ongoing protests against the Agnipath scheme to recruit personnel to the Armed forces, Araga blamed the Congress for the agitations. "Politicians are instigating the youths to take up violent protests," he said.

Defending the scheme, Araga said that the Karnataka government will recruit those who fail to get into the Armed forces through the Agnipath scheme in the state police, as home guards and in the fire department.

"For the last two years, there has been no recruitment in the Armed forces and the unemployed youths are in distress. Now they are getting an opportunity to join the defence," he said. "The youths, who are protesting, are being misguided. Strict action will be initiated against those who take law into their hands," he warned the protesters.

On clashes in Belagavi, the Home Minister said that the incident was due to rivalry over temple land. "A person has been stabbed. It is a fight for the land which has been going on for the past three to four years. Police have already arrested a few," he said.

Palace decks up to receive PM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

AS the countdown has begun for the International Yoga Day, Mysuru Palace is decked up to welcome Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who will take part in the event on Tuesday morning.

The Special Protection Group has taken over the palace and erected the dais from where Modi will deliver his address. He and elected representatives will join other yoga enthusiasts and perform yoga for nearly 45 minutes.

Event managers from Delhi have divided the palace premises into 17 blocks, and barricaded and installed cameras to have an eagle's eye on the event, where 12,000 yoga enthusiasts from the state and another 3,000 from Union government departments will participate. LED screens have been put up all around the palace premises.

The Mysuru City Corporation, which has asphalted roads, illuminated prominent streets and decorated the palace, is doing last-minute works to beautify the city. Hundreds of policemen have been deputed across the city, at major traffic junctions and at venues Modi will visit. They are checking all vehicles entering the city.

The final rehearsal for the Yoga Day was held at the palace and it was witnessed by district in-charge minister ST Somashekar, Home Minister Araga Jnandera, local MP and MLAs and district officials. Parking spaces have been created around the palace to avoid inconvenience to the public.

The Ayush Department is spending Rs 5.75 crore on the event, including accommodation and food for VVIPs. An expo of Yoga day has been set up on the palace premises and it will be inaugurated by Modi before joining the Royal family for breakfast on Tuesday.

Jewellers to present golden memento to PM

MYSURU: While Yoga enthusiasts are eagerly waiting to participate in the International Day of Yoga event with Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday, Mysuru jewellers too are keenly waiting for the 'golden' opportunity to meet the PM and present him with a memento made of gold. Being prepared by Navratan Jewellers, the memento is exclusively designed from Thailand and contains the portrait of PM Modi on the right side while Mysuru Palace on the left. It also has the photo of the PM performing an asana. It also contains slokas on Yoga in Hindi.

200 workers toiled to ready venue in B'luru

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A veteran in making arrangements for many huge events, including a few in the past attended by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, K V Raja has been mandated with the job of taking care of all arrangements for the D-Day at Kommaghatta Grounds. Modi will lay the foundation stone for the Bengaluru Suburban Rail Project and inaugurate the Sir M Visvesvaraya Terminal among other projects on Monday afternoon.

Proprietor of Raja Enterprises in Chamrajpet, Raja said it was a nerve-wracking fortnight for him and his team comprising nearly 200 workers. "I was a challenging assignment. The massive ground at Kommaghatta had to be levelled for the big event. To top it all, we had heavy rains," Raja told TNIE.

The sprawling shamiana which was readied with cloth material from Germany and China extends to a length of 700m and a width of 280m.

"A total of 40,000 people can be accommodated. It is a combination of ordinary seats as well as sophisticated seats," he said. Twenty huge LED screens, lighting and stage carpeting have all been taken care of by the agency.

Workers erect a stage at Kommaghatta

Asked if he was intimidated by the daunting task, Raja said that it was not something new for him. "We have been in the business for 30 years. We have taken care of events attended by PM Modi in Mangaluru, Coimbatore, Dharapuram and thrice in Bengaluru in the past. We have done at a few more places in South India too. We have pulled them off successfully and so I was confident we would be able to do it well," he said. On cost involved in making all the arrangements, Raju diplomatically said they had not calculated it yet.

ON Monday, after landing at the Yelahanka air base around 12 noon, Modi will take the helicopter to Indian Institute of Science (IISc), where he will inaugurate the Centre for Brain Research (CBR) and lay the foundation stone for the Bagchi-Parthasarathy Multispeciality Hospital. He will also lay the foundation stone for the multi-crore Satellite Town Ring Road from Dobbspet to Hoskote and also for multiple rail and road infrastructure projects worth over Rs 27,000 crore at a public gathering at 1.25 pm Kommaghatta, where arrangements have been made to accommodate over 50,000 people.

Launching projects, including the redevelopment of Cantonment and Yesvantpur railway stations, multiple road upgradation projects and Multimodal Logistics Park at Bengaluru too are on the Prime Minister's list. He will dedicate to the nation M Visvesvaraya Railway Station, the country's first air-conditioned station, at Baiyappanahalli, inaugurate full electrification of the Konkan Railway line and other railway projects. Later, he will inaugurate the new campus of Dr BR Ambedkar School of Economics (BASE) and unveil the statue of Dr Ambedkar. He will dedicate to the nation 150 'Technology Hubs', which are the transformed version of Industrial Training Institutes (ITIs).

Select schools, colleges closed in Bengaluru

Ahead of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Bengaluru, several schools and colleges in the city have been given a one-day holiday on Monday. With Modi visiting the Bangalore University (BU) campus to inaugurate the Dr BR Ambedkar School of Economics (BASE) University, the BU campus will remain closed for the day. In all, 75 colleges and 22 schools will be shut to avoid traffic congestion as they are close to the venues that the PM will be at. The Department of Public Instruction stated that schools can repurpose a weekend holiday to make up for the loss.

Why are schools shut, asks DKS

ENS @ Bengaluru

WITH schools and colleges being shut in areas in the vicinity of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's events on Monday, KPCC President DK Shivakumar demanded to know the rationale behind the decision. "Are our students a security threat, or does the government want them to line up on the roads to wave to PM Modi? The students of Karnataka do not have that kind of culture," he said.

Continuing with his criticism of the government and textbook revision, Shivakumar said, "The BJP government has distorted and insulted the views of eminent personalities, including Balagangadharanatha Swamiji, Shivakumara Swamiji, Kuvempu and Narayana Guru. We worship these seers as walking gods. What has happened to the community organisations, the Vokkaliga Sangha or Veerashaiva Sangha? Why aren't they raising their voices?"

KPCC leader accused of insulting Hindu Gods

ENS @ Mangaluru

KARNATAKA Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) IT cell secretary Shailaja Amarnath and three others have been booked for allegedly insulting Hindu Gods in Clubhouse.

VHP leader Praveen Kumar lodged a complaint with the Puttur police alleging that Shailaja and three others—Preethu Shetty, Anil and Punith — had insulted Lord Ram, Goddess Sita, and Lord Hanuman during a discussion in the Clubhouse. The complainant alleged that their statements had hurt the religious sentiments of Hindus.

Meanwhile, miscreants attacked Shailaja's house by pelting stones. They also poured black ink on her residence.

Later, Shailaja lodged a counter with the Puttur police against one Mumtaz, a native of Sullia and anchor of a YouTube channel, accusing her of twisting and editing a video and an audio on Lord Ram and also using Shailaja's photo and mobile number and uploading it on social media.

Shailaja has alleged that due to this fake edited clip, she has been getting threat calls since June 17. Mumtaz has been booked under Sections 505(2), 509 of the IPC.

Govt's negligence led to fertiliser shortage: Siddu

In Kodagu and Hassan districts too, there is a shortage of fertilisers. Apart from black marketing and lack of supplies, farmers in Kolar have complained of fake brands of fertilisers being supplied to them.

JDS leader and former Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy said, "I have heard many complaints of fertiliser shortage and black marketing from across the state. Unscrupulous dealers have jacked up the prices. Some farmers from Kolar complained to me about fake fertilisers. It is the government that is responsible for black marketing and fake fertilisers. Who says there is a government in place?"

Kurubur Shantakumar said, "In Mysuru district, we protested outside the supply centre. I have received information about fertiliser shortage from different places."

Farmer leaders pointed out that even in Haveri, which is the home district of both Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Agriculture Minister BC Patil, there is a shortage of fertilisers and resulting black marketing.

Congress leader and former CM Siddaramaiah said, "There is a shortage of fertilisers in most parts of the state. The government has to stock up seeds and fertilisers and supply them according to the requirement even before agricultural activities begin. The government's negligence has led to the shortage now. It should wake up at least now. I spoke to the agriculture minister over phone about this." KPCC president DK Shivakumar said, "There is a shortage and also rampant blackmarketing of fertilisers. The government does not have the eyes to see or the heart to understand the plight of farmers."

Economist RS Deshpande said, "Any shortage of fertilisers is the failure of the agriculture department and state government. Why cannot we have excess stocks of fertilisers as they do not go bad? For years we have heard of fertilizer shortage. Even ants plan for the rainy season. Can't we?"

BC Patil said, "There is no problem and there is no shortage."

Slamming him, former agriculture minister and Congress leader Krishna Byregowda said, "Instead of attending to the problem, the government is denying it."

An official from the agriculture department said, "There is no shortage. If there is a problem, it is only because of logistics issues, and we will sort them out immediately. We will send stocks of fertilisers to Kodagu and Hassan on Monday."

MLC POLL DEFEAT

BJP leaders' report lists factionalism

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

THE defeat in South Graduates constituency, considered the stronghold of the saffron party, has not gone down well with the BJP's rank and file. The cadre, working tirelessly to strengthen the BJP's base in Old Mysuru region -- a bastion of the Congress and JDS -- are a worried lot.

The knives are out, with many from the RSS and loyal BJP cadres accusing elected representatives and leaders from the Vokkaliga community of failing to stop the polarisation of votes.

A veteran BJP leader alleged that many were confined to customary press conferences and stage functions, instead of charting out strategies to reach out to community leaders. Their focus was more on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's scheduled visit to the city on Monday.

A few leaders have also written to the party high command and BJP National General Secretary B L Santhosh, pointing out the reasons for the defeat. "We lost both the Legislative Council elections due to polarisation of castes and leaders' failure to counter it with united efforts," a party leader said, pleading anonymity.

The report on those indulging in anti-party activities and those not showing interest has also reached the Delhi bosses. There are also allegations that a few BJP leaders had an understanding with rivals leaders, as in the previous election, that made a microscopic community man Raghu lose the election with just 13 votes, in the previous MLC elections.

There is also a request to act tough on those indulging in anti-party activities and put an end to factionalism in the district BJP unit, which may mar the chances of the party in the upcoming Assembly polls.

Meanwhile, defeated candidate M V Ravishankar and his supporters have also sought time with Santhosh, who will be in Bengaluru. They want to apprise him about the situation and also submit a report to him.

DREAMS VS BRIEF CAREERS: FIRESTORM RAGES OVER MILITARY 'JOB SCHEME'

BALA CHAUHAN
@Bengaluru

IN a clear message to the protesters, top Defence officers on Sunday said those applying for Agnipath -- the Centre's new military recruitment scheme -- will have to give an undertaking that they were not part of violent protests or arson that have broken out across the country. "All applicants will be subjected to police verification before they are considered for selection as Agniveers," said Lieutenant General Anil Puri, additional secretary, Department of Military Affairs.

The Agnipath scheme for the recruitment of personnel below officer rank (PBOR) in the Army, Navy and Air Force, largely on a four-year short-term contractual basis, has been received with angry reactions, protests and large-scale vandalism in Bihar, Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, Rajasthan, Maharashtra, West Bengal, Odisha and Telangana, resulting in one casualty and loss of public property worth thousands of crores of rupees. Images splashed across TV screens in the past few days, of torched trains and buses, vandalised railway stations, stone-throwing mobs with hapless policemen trying to quell the anger on the streets, and scared school children trapped inside school buses, stand in sharp contrast with the josh (spirit) and jazba (sentiment) of a fauji, in whose valour the protection and sovereignty of India is assured.

The objective of the radical shift in defence recruitment of PBOR is to attract fresh talent to the three services, provide an opportunity to the youth to don the uniform, and enable a youthful profile of the armed forces.

After a gap of two years, the government is ready to roll out the recruitment process immediately, through which 46,000 Agniveers will be enrolled into the three services for a period of four years, with a monthly salary of Rs 30,000-40,000. Upon completion of four years of service, based on organisational requirement and policies promulgated by the armed forces, 25 per cent of Agniveers will be offered an opportunity to apply for permanent enrolment in the armed forces. The rest will be offered a one-time Seva Nidhi package of Rs 11.71 lakh, partly funded by their monthly contributions, as well as skill certificates and bank loans for help in their second careers.

The government assurances have not assuaged the anger of the aspirants, who are protesting against the cutting short of permanent service of at least 20 years, followed by pension. The Opposition has seized upon the opportunity and charged the government with shortchanging the youth, who join the armed forces with the knowledge that they may have to make the supreme sacrifice on call of duty.

"Agnipath has been introduced to bring down the burden of pension on the Defence budget. In the financial year 2022-23, the Defence budget stands at Rs 5.25 lakh crore, of which Rs 1.19 lakh crore, or 22 per cent, is earmarked for pensions. But this is a wrong move and unfair to a fauji. A career in the Defence services is not just another government job. If Agnipath is to cut down defence expenditure on pensions, then the Government should have looked at other PSUs. They should not experiment with the armed forces," said an Army veteran, who didn't wish to be named. Countering his argument, another war veteran said that training Agniveers will cost the state exchequer much more in the future.

Oppn involved, says govt

With no end to protests in sight, there is a growing concern about the profile of the protesters. Would a genuine Defence aspirant resort to arson and actually put his career at risk? A fauji joins the fauj because of the salary and respect he earns on donning the uniform. Not only him, his entire village celebrates his entry. Can he jeopardise his life's dream by indulging in vandalism, when he stands a bright chance to get into the armed forces soon?

The government suspects the hand of Opposition parties and coaching centres behind the growing unrest, loss of public property and attack on police personnel.

"The arsonists cannot be Defence aspirants. Those who are indulging in violence have no place in the armed forces. We don't need them," former Army chief Gen VP Malik told a media house. "A small percentage of military aspirants, who have been preparing to join the armed forces in the past two years may have joined the protests out of frustration, and not against the Agnipath scheme, per se," said another senior Army officer.

While the government view is that with Agnipath, the country stands to benefit immensely by the infusion of highly inspired youth with a deeper understanding of self-discipline and diligence, the flip side of the argument is that with Defence training, including handling of weapons, the 75 per cent of Agniveers who are sent home after four years may become the right candidates for wrong groups, leading to a major national security issue.

Protests continue to rage across states, despite the Centre's announcement of several concessions like a 'one-time' change in the age limit to 23 from 21 years, 10 per cent quota in Ministry of Defence (MoD) jobs, spread across the Coast Guard, defence civilian posts, the 16 defence public sector undertakings, Central Armed Police Forces (CAPFs) and Assam Rifles, which comes under the MoD.

The Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has also announced three years' age relaxation beyond the prescribed upper age limit to Agniveers for recruitment in the two paramilitary forces. Other ministries like Ports, Civil Aviation, Shipping & Waterways are also looking at inducting highly skilled Agniveers into their services, and the Ministry of Education is said to be launching a three-year skill-based undergraduate degree programme for serving Defence personnel, besides the National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS) will launch customised courses for 10th grade Agniveers to help them clear their 12th grade.

Currently, over 73,000 posts are vacant in the five wings of the paramilitary forces - Border Security Force (BSF), Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP), Shastra Seema Bal (SSB), and the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF). As many as 73,219 posts are vacant in CAPFs and Assam Rifles, suggests Union Home ministry data. Besides, 18,124 posts are also vacant in police forces in Union Territories. Despite multiple assurances from the government that preference for employment will be given to Agniveers, there are no signs of any let-up in street protests.

Some career counsellors support Agnipath as a "good scheme to serve the nation". Prof Umesh Pai, a career counsellor from Udupi, said, "The youth will have a better opportunity to join the armed forces. There is lack of awareness on the advantages of joining the armed forces among the people of coastal Karnataka," he said. Roshan Lewis, father of Class 10 student Ronan from Udupi, said though the short-term recruitment scheme is a good decision, the future of those who don't get selected is insecure.

Other critics pointed out that Agnipath will dilute the recruitment process of the armed forces. "Youth in the age group of 17 and 21 years should pursue their higher and professional education instead. The scheme is populist, short-sighted and disastrous, considering all the pros and cons in the long run. There needs to be more serious discussion on such an important issue," said Nandagopal S, Co-Founder and Convener, Centre for Integrated Learning, in Mangaluru.

Agnipath, now on the roll, will have to go through the agnipariksha of doling out the best to the armed forces and being just to the 75 per cent Agniveers, who will have to seek their future outside.

'Police verification must'

"Police verification of applicants for government jobs is a must and if any applicant comes under adverse notice for involvement in protests, arson, damage to public property or any other criminal activity, his application for a government job will not be considered," he added. Kumar said the situation in the state is peaceful. In Belagavi, the Congress has called for a day-long bandh on June 20 in protest against Agnipath.

OPS: Dual leadership must stay

ENS @Chennai

AIADMK coordinator O Panneerselvam on Sunday made it clear that he would accept nothing short of continuance of dual leadership as senior leaders including former Ministers OS Manian, Pollachi V Jayaraman, and NR Sivapathi argued for a single leadership for the party.

JCD Prabhakar, a member of the steering committee of the AIADMK, who is also part of all the discussions with Panneerselvam, told TNIE that the party coordinator is not in a mood to accept any compromise formula since he has been elected by the primary members of the AIADMK.

Prabhakar confirmed that Panneerselvam categorically told those who met him that any unilateral decision cannot be thrust upon the cadre. He also scotched specualtions that there was a demand from Panneerselvam that the general council could be postponed until the issue is resolved. Panneerselvam was worried about the growing unrest among the AIADMK cadre sparked by the issue, he said. (Inputs from Trichy bureau)

CARS TORCHED

1 dead in B'gavi violence

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Belagavi

TENSION prevailed after a youth was murdered over a minor issue sparking violence between two groups, during which several vehicles were torched at Goundwad village in Belagavi taluk on Saturday night. The deceased Satish Rajendra Patil (39), is a resident of the same village. Lord Bhairavnath temple's land dispute is said to be the reason behind the violence.

Sources said two groups in the village had a dispute with each other over a temple land for the last two years.

On Saturday night, one group of villagers was supposed to clean the premises of the temple for a special pooja on Sunday morning. They were facing hurdles in doing so due to a car parked in the front of the temple. Satish Patil along with a few villagers asked the owner of the vehicle to park it in some other place, after which a clash broke out. Before Patil realised, the members of the other group attacked him with sickle and sharp weapons.

Patil, a medical representative, was severely injured and was rushed to a private hospital, where doctors declared him dead. Enraged villagers forced the commercial establishments to shut on the National Highway by pelting stones. As many as six vehicles were set ablaze in that village.

The police rushed to the spot and tried to control the situation. Police Commissioner MB Boralingaiah along with Deputy Commissioner of Police PV Sneha, Assistant Commissioner of Police NV Barmani and other police officials also rushed to the spot. Fire Brigade Officer VS Takkekar along with team also reached the village.

A majority of the youth fled from the village fearing arrest. The police have arrested seven accused in connection to Patil's murder case and 19 accused in connection with setting fire to vehicles and stone pelting cases, in the wee hours of Sunday.

Mom threw infant girl from hospital window

ARUNKUMAR HURALIMATH @Hubballi

THE Hubballi police have arrested the mother of the 40-day-old baby girl who was "abducted" from the KIMS Hospital. She has been remanded in judicial custody.

On June 10, the baby from Kundagol town of Dharwad district was admitted to the hospital. That day, her mother alleged she was snatched away. Surprisingly, the baby was found the next morning behind the paediatric ward.

The baby was suffering from microcephaly, so the mother Umme Zainab Hussainsab Sheikh aka Salma plotted the abduction at the hospital. The CCTV footage showed that she went to the washroom with the baby but returned without her, an officer said. She confessed during questioning. "Salma's previous baby also had health issues and she underwent abortion. This baby also suffered from ailments, she thought she will not survive. She went to the washroom with the baby and threw her from the window," he added.

Hubballi-Dharwad police chief Labhu Ram said, "Once the baby recovers, she will be handed over to Women and Child Welfare department."

Mekedatu dam may submerge tourist hotspots

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH state government knocking all possible doors including the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) and the Centre to get clearance for the Mekedatu project, many tourists and staffers working with hotels and resorts along the river are against the government's decision.

They fear that the construction of the dam will submerge most of the holiday spots, including those of Jungle Lodges and Resorts' Bheemeshwari and Galibore fishing camps.

Rafting in the river will also be threatened. The staffers working in JLR and Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation (KSTDC) told TNIE: "Once the dam is constructed, most parts of the government properties will be submerged. Ironically, while the private resorts are raising objections, we are unable to say or do anything as we are a government agency."

The tourists, visiting the JLR and private resorts, have also started to object the government's decision of constructing a dam at Mekedatu.

"Instead of protecting the riverine and lives of people, the government is bringing more destruction. Prime activities like trekking along the river, rafting, boating will be stopped," said a Shardha P, a tourist to Bheemeshwari Nature Camp. A field guide of JLR, on condition of anonymity, said: "Some days back, a team of officials came to see the place on the pretext of holidaying. We were told most of the rooms will have to closed as they will be submerged. We in fact showed them the elephant paths, the river tern and crocodile breeding points asking them not to take the project ahead, but to little avail."

However, foresters said they have not yet received any proposal. "No request has been made for land. We know there will be submersion and conservation activities will be affected. We are aware that properties of JLR will be submerged and this will have a multi-dimensional impact," said a senior forest department official.

GLARING LACK OF COMMUNICATION ON AGNIPATH SCHEME

The volcano of anger that suddenly erupted days after a radical policy of short-term recruitment to defence forces was unveiled was an index on how serious the issue of unemployment is across the country. Recent government data on the drop in unemployment rates notwithstanding, jobless youth with an uncertain future are a powder keg waiting to explode. Defence hires were frozen for the last two years due to the pandemic, so there is understandable fury among the aspirants. Yet, the waves of arson attacks on trains and the destruction of other public and private properties across the country cannot be condoned. The argument that a government that has a brute majority in Parliament is tone deaf to any other language lacks merit. Creating social unrest and damaging public property is as reprehensible as the recent bulldozer justice by the UP government. Peaceful mass mobilisation is the only acceptable way to talk to power.

The government sharply recoiled at the ferocity of the agitations and hurriedly announced a clutch of amendments and quotas to defuse the situation. On one level it showed poor anticipation of the backlash while on another, it indicated the scheme was not fully thought through. The scheme is aimed at reducing the defence pension burden that has decidedly become unsustainable. Its primary purpose is to make the military nimble and reduce its average age. There is divergence of opinion on the short training stint and discharge of 75% of the recruits, called Agniveers, after four years of service. But similar models are successfully running elsewhere in the world.

While critics say it should have been tried out as a pilot project first, the Army says the first round of recruitments of 46,000 Agniveers itself is experimental. Based on the lessons learnt, it intends to scale up the intake to 1.25 lakh annually. The problem then is the lack of proper communication with stakeholders and taking them on board in a transparent manner. In the wake of the apprehensions widely shared by netas and experts, including NDA allies, the government could even now call them for a meeting to pick their mind and sharpen the scheme. As for the youth, creating a mechanism for preferential job opportunities upon discharge would go a long way in assuaging their anxiety.

DISABILITY ACT DEADLINE IGNORED

The Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act of 2016 led to new hope for India's disabled persons by centering a rights-based approach that stepped away from a perspective that patronised this population. Significantly, the Act remedied a flaw in its predecessor, Persons with Disabilities Act of 1995, with regard to setting a deadline for states in making existing infrastructure accessible. The deadline—five years after the Central government brought out the relevant rules—passed on 15 June 2022. The RPWD Act also mandated that new infrastructure must be accessible and new private establishments could only get relevant building permission if in compliance with the rules. A step outside of one's home will suffice to show that very little has changed.

According to the 2011 Census, about 2.2% of people in India are disabled. Experts believe the actual figure is more likely 15%. As per the Census, the literacy rate of disabled persons is 55%, about 20 points lower than the national average. Only 36% were employed. One factor that could bring a sea change in these statistics? An accessible environment. In the social model of disability, it is understood that it is not the person who is disabled but the environment that disables the person. An orthopedically disabled person, for instance, may be able to travel independently for work with aids such as a wheelchair if the public infrastructure were suitably adapted. There are countries that have done so, allowing better opportunities for disabled persons. The key is universal design—accessible to all users be they children, aged, pregnant and/or disabled. This requires a change in the mindset of policymakers to approach such design not as a favour for a few but as empowerment for all.

Reports suggest only one state so far—Tamil Nadu—has sought an extension to comply with the accessibility mandate of the Act. All states must make this a priority and invest in understanding and practising universal design. The lives, happiness and unexplored potential of crores of Indians are at stake.

Every reform in India hits the same roadblocks of a divided polity and populism. To solve this, the government must reach out and consult all sections of society

AGNIPATH AND THE DARK MATTER OF DEMOCRACY

RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE

No, this is not just about the protests over Agnipath and would-not-be Agniveers that are erupting all over the country. Well, not merely or entirely about them at any rate. We do not need experts or experienced India-watchers to tell us that there is more than meets the eye to these protests. There are political forces, probably leading parties, not to mention the usual foreign hands at play. Though the evidence is not forthcoming yet, we can surmise that it will be released soon enough.

Because, let's face it, the country is at war. Not only with enemies outside or across its borders, but within too. We suffer from a divided and polarised polity. Given the slew of states announcing concessions, preferences and sops for future Agniveers, we also know that Indian democracy is characterised, more and more, by different shades and degrees of populism. Protest and populism—these seem to have become the predominant markers of the nation.

So too would the irony of terms such as "Agniveer" and "Agnipath" not be lost on the ordinary citizens of the country. Leaving aside the fiery path to valour, our would-be shining heroes—at least a section of them—actually resemble an incendiary mob, torching trains and buses, destroying public and private property, trying to browbeat the state into giving in to their demands for permanent placement.

Where? In the Armed Forces, which are to defend the country and uphold the honour of their regiments, which represent a code of conduct that protects civilians and non-combatants from being targets of violence. Now, do these arsonists and lawbreakers, by virtue of such actions which ought to disqualify them forever from serving in uniform, seek to bully and intimidate their way into those very forces that are meant to protect the state and its citizens from such elements?

No, such ironies will not be lost on us for they are too obvious and painful to be missed. Instead, the rioters know that once their names get into the police records, they will be no good for the Armed Forces or any state employment. So, isn't it obvious that many of them are paid protesters and operatives rather than genuine "Agnipath" aspirants? Even their faces, as shown in the media, indicate that many are over the age of 23. Much more, as I hinted earlier, is going on behind the scenes, especially if one looks at earlier protests such as that of the farmers, which went on for over a year.

Who cares for the facts—or in this case—for the figures? The amount of money spent on pension exceeds the salary bill of the Armed Forces for the year 2020–2021. Nearly half the enormous defence budget of $77 billion or ₹6 lakh crore—something in the range of ₹3 lakh crore—is being spent on salaries and non-combat costs each year on serving or retired personnel, many of whom may have lived through their entire career only in peacetime duties.

That a large part of the present budget of the forces is "non-productive" by any standards is a sad truth that we do not like to face. Ours, which is the second-largest standing force in the world, with close to 1.5 million soldiers in uniform, will soon cease to be fighting fit and competitive if we carry on like this. We need to invest in equipment, technology, and upgrade weaponry, infrastructure, and so on. But no, the Armed Forces too must be turned into a gigantic employment agency to satisfy the needs of the agitators who seek permanent government jobs.

The starting salary of Agniveers will be over ₹30,000 per month, rising to ₹40,000 per month by the fourth year. Only 25% will continue in the services while the others will get an exit package called Seva Nidhi to the tune of ₹11.71 lakh each. Additionally, several states have also announced other employment possibilities for them. So what is wrong with the scheme? How is it not in the nation's interests or not beneficial to the youth?

> Any opportunity to bring down the Modi-led BJP sarkar or to show India in poor light will not be missed. This, in turn, also makes the members and supporters of the government more vehement and unforgiving of the opposition

The truth is that every reform in India hits the same roadblocks—a divided polity and the compulsions of populism. That is why I said at the outset that this column is not just about the Agniveer protests. Instead, it is about what I would call democracy's dark matter. Like dark matter, which hypothetically occupies 85% of the universe although it lacks luminosity nor interacts with the electromagnetic field, India's divided polity and culture wars occupy so much space in our democracy.

This means that any opportunity to bring down the Narendra Modi-led BJP sarkar or to show India in poor light, whether domestically or internationally, will not be missed. This, in turn, also makes the members and supporters of the government more vehement, aggressive and unforgiving of the opposition. As with the farm bills, neither Parliament nor the opposition, let alone the young stakeholders, press and the broader thinking public, have been taken into confidence in matters of national importance such as the newly announced Agniveer scheme.

Unilateralism, rather than consultation or consensus, is the chosen methodology with the instruments of state power commissioned to bludgeon through policy or manage the narrative afterwards. This is not how a government "of the people, by the people, for the people" ought to operate. But as the protests mount, more and more concessions and dilutions are likely to be announced, weakening the scheme. What, then, is a brute majority good for if it does not demonstrate moral strength and electoral resilience, but impose "reforms" followed by populist rollbacks and concessions?

What is the way forward? Reduce divisive issues and policies that alienate sections of the populace. Reach out to all sections of the citizenry. Rather than only blowing the trumpet of government schemes, apply the healing touch. Invite all sections of the political spectrum for discussions and consultation. Ensure a peaceful daily life for most Indians rather than simmering discord and constant conflict.

This government has achieved much for which it should be proud. Most importantly, it managed the economy in a way that kept the country afloat unlike other countries in the neighbourhood that have been reduced to a sorry state almost of disgraceful beggary. The Agniveer scheme, too, is meant to make our Armed Forces much more economically viable and globally competitive.

But with all these accomplishments, the legacy of Modi@8 is also a disturbing sense of a divided society and country at war with itself. It is this that must change before 2024. It is time to pay attention to, and even mitigate, democracy's dark matter. Especially if India@75 is really supposed to be an Amrit Mahotsav—the grand celebration of the elixir of liberty, instead of the dark age of a fractured polity and divided society.

SANJAYAN, A HUMOURIST & HUMANIST FROM KERALA

JAYARAM PODUVAL
Head, Department of Art History, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda

A COUNTRY OF MANY GODS

"Children, come around. Sanjayan is fed up of talking to the elders. I am going to tell the story of the great Elephant Jagannoosan to you," wrote Moorkoth Ramunni Nair aka M R Nair in his pseudo pen name Sanjayan. As a child, I read the story of Jagannoosan thanks to the insistence of my father, an ardent fan of Sanjayan. My father had a good collection of the writings of M R Nair including Sahithya Nigasham, a book on Malayalam literary criticism, the translation of Othello into Malayalam and the five-volume collection of his satire literature under the name Sanjayan.

A few years ago in Baroda, I asked Prof. K G Subrahmanyan whether he needed anything from Kerala as I planned to travel for some work. Mani Da's answer surprised me as he asked for the collection of the writings of Sanjayan. I could not initially comprehend it as I have never seen him read a Malayalam book or even speak in the language. Later I understood that as a foot soldier of the nationalist movement in North Kerala, Sanjayan was a must read for those like Mani Da who were young then.

Sanjayan brings in the realities of British colonialism and hypocrisy of the native elite alike. For example, take Devappa Kukkiliya, a character in his play who portrays Churchill weeping in favour of India "for half an hour" to achieve the mandatory 60 minutes for the theatre competition organised by the British administration. Or the reporters of Changalam Paranda (the imaginary panchayat where Sanjayan lived) harping about the travel of Konthu Maman, aping the foreign media who preferred to report on the trans-Atlantic voyage of the ship Queen Mary (1936) while ignoring the atrocities of war in Europe.

Sanjayan was a great observer and perpetual social critic. The tender coconut seller at a small railway station between Calicut and Thalassery, oblivious to the chilly wind and rain, is the representation of the life of many Indians in the pre-independent India, who lived a life minding their own business.

Let us come back to the story of Jagannoosan, which even after a century can be retold to the children, "ignoring the elders"—the contemporary context being the Ukraine war. Poor Jagannoosan had joined a group of hunters called Akhila Loka Vetta Sabha (The World Hunter's Association) for protection. The group had members like Ittan, Pittan, Chemman and Panchan in it. Unfortunately, when Ittan attacked Jagannoosan for his fabulous tusks, the other hunters verbally expressed sympathy and merely made statements disapproving the attack. Sanjayan's reference was apparent to the elders of that period, who had read about the betrayal of the League of Nations to the cause of Ethiopia when it was brutally attacked by Italy in 1935; they could easily identify Italy, Britain, Germany and France as the hunters. The news from Ethiopia soon lost its front-page position in 1935 as is happening to the war in Ukraine now. As a pure humanist, Sanjayan could not ignore the atrocities of the fascist regimes of Italy and Germany and planned a satirical attack on Mussolini and Hitler, transforming himself into Kuttichattan (mischievous demi-god of Kerala) and putting scorpions and centipedes inside their uniforms. Through his sharp and harsh political satire, Sanjayan was trying to inculcate nationalism among his readers who were in a slumber in the 1930s.

It is interesting to see how an academic like M R Nair, who had his training in prestigious institutions of that time such as Victoria College (Palakkad) and Madras Christian College (Chennai) and achieved the position of the Principal of Malabar Christian College (Calicut) ended up as fierce critic of the British administration and the other political evils of that period. Sanjayan chose the path of satire for political criticism and national aspiration, because the realities had to be represented in a rhetorical manner rather than stating the facts as they were. When Sanjayan ultimately succumbed to tuberculosis in 1943, he was only 40. His death left a deep scar among the youth of that period, who felt that they lost a guide sceptically laughing at the carnages of colonialism.

Naturally, a question may arise about the remembrance of Sanjayan, whose 120th birthday fell on this June 13. A memorial, interestingly the only one, for Sanjayan is not in Thalassery, his birthplace, but in Annur, a village north of Payyanur town in Kannur district, north Kerala. There is a library established in 1944 named Sanjayan Memorial Library. The founding members of the library, enthusiastic young nationalists like K P Kunhirama Poduval, were on the way to Kannur to get the receipt book printed for their newly established Deshiya Yuva Jana Samajam (National Youth Organisation) and Deshiya Sahitya Samajam (National Literary Society), which had been actively organising camps and workshops inculcating nationalism among the youth. "On the way they heard the sad news of the demise of Sanjayan. Right then, those ardent admirers of the writer changed the literary society's name to Sanjayan Sahitya Samajam, under which the library was established in 1944," says C V Vinod Kumar of the Sanjayan Memorial Library. It was one of the earliest libraries there and still remains one of the best in the region. The bust of Sanjayan in front of the library remains the only sculpted representation of the humanist, master of satire and champion of nationalism.

Protect public property

This is with reference to Stricter laws may be on cards to prevent damage to rail assets (June 19). It is unpardonable that over ₹200 crore worth of railway assets were vandalised by protestors. People tend to see public property as the first targets to vent their fury on. The government must enforce stringent laws to curb this.

R Sridharan, Chennai

Youth support needed

The people who are burning vehicles and trains are anti-social elements. To be in the Army is a matter of great pride. I do not think people are seeing the perks—an exit package of ₹11.71 lakh, 10% reservation in the defence ministry and preference in state government police recruitments. I think the way the government should have handled this is by sensitising the youth to the scheme.

Prabhudutt Dash, Bhubaneswar

Bad planning

I do not believe that a particular party may have ignited the Agnipath protests. The age relaxation and the reservations actually indicate that it is a badly-planned endeavour. The question lies in whether we can expect such devotion and commitment from such recruits and if it will affect the aspirations of those who want to join the Armed Forces as a permanent career. Perhaps the best solution is to appoint a committee of former Army chiefs.

S V Venkatakrishnan, Bengaluru

Fee-nally, a good decision

The Telangana High Court's decision to take up the issue of illegal collection of parking fee in commercial establishments is the need of the hour. Citizens are getting the short end of the stick because they are forced to pay it, and authorities are least concerned. The High Court must make this illegal to put people at ease.

T Kailash Ditya, Hyderabad

Need for prudence

The RBI's warning on the burgeoning debt of the Kerala government may be brushed aside by the chief minister as politically motivated. If the huge debt to be raised for the SilverLine project materialises, it will be the last nail in the coffin. Successive governments have been borrowing with little concern about the future consequences. And Pinarayi is unconcerned as well—the insistence on SilverLine is proof of that. Scrapping it will be the first step towards financial discipline.

Infra & equipment: LAC gets vigorous focus

Army chief carrying out constant reviews along the northern borders; thrust on movement of defence equipment

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

BUILDING infrastructure at the Line of Actual Control (LAC) with China is not the sole of Indian Army, the movement of the defence equipment in key areas is also part of meticulous military planning. To invigorate the forces, Army Chief General Manoj Pande is constantly visiting the operational areas in different sectors of the LAC.

The procurement of 18 Articulated All Terrain Vehicles (AATV) for mobility and carrying mounted artillery guns to be deployed along the northern borders is under the process.

As per requirements projected in March, the Articulated All Terrain Vehicle (AATV) should be capable to operate up to 18,000 feet in High Altitude Areas (Glaciated and Snow bound) and marshy terrain (salt waste dry/wet) in plains. Twelve have to be sent to Ladakh and 6 to Gujarat.

As earlier reported by this newspaper, the Indian Army is set to get stronger firepower along its northern borders with China. Authorities have issued Request For Information (RFI) to procure 105mm/37 calibre mounted gun systems. As per the RFI issued by the Indian Army on April 29, the field regiments will be equipped with the mounted gun systems for better shoot and scoot capability for operations in the mountains. "The proposed mounted gun system will be employed in mountains and high-altitude areas along the northern borders of the country for execution of artillery tasks," the RFI mentioned.

Due to mobility, these will be mounted on vehicles that can be moved to positions which otherwise are difficult. The system will also be comparatively safer from the counter bombardment of the enemy.

Apart from its long-range artillery systems like Bofors, the Army also uses lightweight Howitzers which can be moved fast. The Army also uses towed gun systems which are cumbersome and difficult to move.

The Army Chief chose Ladakh as the first location to visit after taking over as the Chief of Army Staff on April 30. His visit to Ladakh came days after he questioned the Chinese' intention which has been to keep "alive" the overall boundary question with India.

Again, on 10 June, Gen. Manoj Pande went on a three-day forward area visit to the Line of Actual Control along Himachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand.

LAC of 3,488 kms is divided into three sectors: Eastern (Arunachal and Sikkim), Central (Uttarakhand and Himachal Pradesh) and Western Sector (Ladakh).

As per the Army, "During visits to the forward posts, the Chief of Army Staff (COAS) was briefed by local commanders about the prevailing situation and he took a first-hand assessment of the operational preparedness."

The COAS has also been "reviewing the ongoing infrastructure projects apart from interacting with the commanders."

India and China are involved in a protracted stand-off in Eastern Ladakh which began in May 2020. Although disengagement of troops from some areas has taken place, it still persists at Hot Spring, Depsang and Demchok.

NATIONAL HERALD CASE

CONGRESS LEADERS RUE RESTRUCTURING OF AJL

The Congress party has launched a spirited defence of its leadership both on the street and in the media on the National Herald case. Party leaders, including chief ministers of Congress-ruled states, are marching in solidarity with their former president Rahul Gandhi, who has been summoned and grilled by the Enforcement Directorate for long hours in Delhi. In the press conferences, press notes, media bytes as well as in articles in the National Herald, the party newspaper that is in eye of the storm, Congress leaders wax eloquent about the history of the newspaper: How it was started by freedom fighters in British-ruled India to propagate the idea of independence, etc. They also emphasise the fact that the new company, Young Indian, that took over the ₹90-crore loan of National Herald's owner Associated Journals Ltd, is a not-for-profit company and therefore no director or shareholder is allowed to monetarily benefit from it, except for availing professional expenses. In private, however, Congress leaders rue the decision of creating Young Indian. They wonder what was the objective of shifting National Herald and its assets from one company controlled by Congress leadership to another company controlled by the same set of people. If the idea was to extinguish the rights of some shareholders, the party leadership could have bought those shares from the shareholders. After all, the shareholders in AJL were all Congressmen who were allotted shares in the company on the basis of the sole criteria that they were trusted members of the larger Congress family. The National Herald case is cited by Congress leaders as one of the many blunders that has brought the party to its present state.

MAKE IN INDIA

ISRAEL SEEKS CLOSER G2G AND PRIVATE PARTNERSHIPS

Israel has offered niche technologies of its prime armaments to Indian companies to support the Make In India scheme. Sources said a formal offer was made during the recent visit of Israeli defence minister Benny Gantz to New Delhi. Gantz reportedly sought an umbrella pact between the two governments under which Israel would offer full technology transfer of its Spike anti-tank guided missiles, Spice-250 precision-guided munitions and software-defined radio sets, besides providing technical assistance in the development of futuristic military technologies in partnership with DRDO. Israel also wants private Indian enterprises to forge new partnerships with Israeli defence companies to undertake various military upgrade programmes under Make In India. India has been working hard to reduce dependence on foreign-made systems and has asked for transfer of technology of composite materials, nanotechnologies and artificial intelligence-enabled sub-systems for defence projects under Make In India. The Indian government has also asked for progressive increase in the indigenous components in Israeli-supplied Barak-8 missiles or MRSAM (medium-range surface to air missiles), long-range tracking radars, and unmanned aerial vehicles. Ties between the two countries are strengthening even after the change of government in Israel.

5G AUCTION

BHARTI, AMBANI SNUBBED AS TECH GIANTS HAVE THEIR WAY

In a battle between Mukesh Ambani and Sunil Bharti Mittal on one side, and Google, Meta, Microsoft, Amazon, TCS, etc on the other, the government of India has ruled in favour of the latter. When the government decided to auction spectrum for 5G services, three telecom service providers (TSPs) of India namely Reliance Jio owned by Mukesh Ambani, Airtel owned by Sunil Bharti Mittal, and Vodafone Idea, had demanded that spectrum be allocated exclusively to the TSPs and all other users be directed to obtain spectrum on lease from them. The global and Indian tech giants, however, lobbied hard to be allowed to participate in the spectrum auction and buy spectrum directly from the government for their captive use. In the Notice Inviting Application (NIA) issued earlier this week for participating in spectrum auction for 5G services, the government allowed "enterprises" (read large companies or corporations with high demand of internet) to set up "Captive Non-Public Network" (CNPN). Para 2.4 of the NIA, June 2022, among other things, says: "Enterprises setting up CNPNs may obtain the spectrum directly from DoT and establish their own isolated network..." With this policy announcement, the government has potentially taken away a huge number of high revenue clientele from Reliance Jio, Airtel and Vodafone Idea. This is because the tech giants that are big consumers of the internet would buy spectrum directly from the government which may turn out much cheaper for them than buying from the telecom service providers. They were lobbying with the government for this permission through associations as well as directly. The Union government's decision is seen as a big blow to Mukesh Ambani and Sunil Bharti Mittal, who were also snubbed over the reserve price of spectrum for 5G. The Indian TSPs are clearly facing headwinds.

TEJASHWI POSES 20 QUESTIONS TO GOVT

Bihar opposition leader Tejashwi Yadav on Sunday posed 20 questions to the Centre over the Agnipath scheme. He also wanted the government to answer if the scheme is a "MGNREGA-like" programme for educated youth or a "hidden agenda of RSS". Alleging that the Centre made the scheme without considering its pros and cons and proper consultation, Yadav demanded its immediate roll-back

Vested politics: BJP flays Congress satyagraha against Agnipath scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE nation-wide stir against the Agnipath scheme heated up the political weather in the national capital on Sunday with Opposition Congress holding a satyagraha against the scheme while the ruling BJP defending it tooth and nail.

Participating in the protest near the Jantar Mantar here, Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra urged the youth to recognise "fake nationalists" and ensure that a new government is formed in the country which shows "real patriotism". She alleged the new military recruitment scheme would be destructive for the youth and the Army.

Top Congress leaders including AICC general secretary K C Venugopal, party's leader in Lok Sabha Adir Ranjan Chowdhury, Harish Rawat, Communications department head Jairam Ramesh, Salman Khurshid, Sachin Pilot, Deepender Hooda and Ajay Maken participated in the satyagraha.

"I want to tell you, open your eyes and recognise the fake nationalists and fake patriots. The entire country and the Congress are with you in your struggle," Priyanka said in her remarks aimed at the youths protesting the scheme.

Meanwhile, the BJP hurriedly called a media briefing to counter the Congress and flayed it for "politicising" the issue. "I heard the speech of Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, who was speaking at the so-called satyagraha. She was not concerned for the youth but was asking the youth to dislodge the Modi government. The Congress party's aim is neither to do well to the army nor do have care or concern for the youth. The Gandhi family has only one objective to bring down the government by misleading the nation," said BJP national spokesperson Sambit Patra. He said the Opposition has "gone astray" in pursuit of "vested politics" even on national issue like Agnipath.

"They (opposition leaders) have made the situation so volatile that officials of the three service wings were forced to come forward and make an appeal to people not to get involved in arson," said Patra.

Similarly, Union minister and former Army chief General V K Singh (retd) on Sunday alleged that the grand old party is "finding fault with even the best work" of the Modi government as it is "upset" with Rahul Gandhi's questioning by the ED.

Vijayvargiya attracts flak for offering 'security guard' jobs

BHOPAL: BJP national general secretary Kailash Vijayvargiya received Opposition flak on Sunday over his statement that priority would be given to Agniveers for rendering professional security at the party's offices. "If I have to hire services of professionals for security arrangements at the BJP office, I will accord priority to Agniveers," Vijayvargiya said in his native Indore.

The Congress took a dig, saying now "we know" what the BJP really meant when it launched the 'Main Bhi Chowkidaar' campaign in 2019.

"One can't expect those who did not hoist the Tricolour for 52 years of independence to respect soldiers. The youth have a zeal to join the Army and not for protecting BJP offices by becoming chowkidar," Rahul Gandhi said in a tweet. ENS

CONSENSUS IN NDA

Prez poll: Name only after Modi's Karnataka trip

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@New Delhi

AS the final date to file nomination for the Presidential election inches closer, suspense over the name to be chosen by the ruling BJP is getting intense. The saffron party held a high-level meeting on Sunday at the residence of party national president JP Nadda to discuss the preparations even as it is yet to name the candidate. As many as 14 senior leaders of party, including Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, attended the meeting.

Sources in the BJP hinted that the party could once again take its opponents by surprise and announce a consensus candidate of the NDA.

The sources said the NDA candidate for the top post would be "far better, deserving and of wider acceptability across all castes and creeds than what the Opposition could bring in, and best suited for the PM's mantra of 'Saab ka Vikas Saab Ke Sath'".

"We have always been giving a message through selection of candidature for the country's highest Constitutional post to all sections of society. Wait for just a few days, everything will be clear about what we want for this country," said a senior BJP leader wishing not to be named.

The sources also hinted that a formal consensus on the Presidential candidate has been made, and only an announcement in this regard is to be made. "With the return of PM Narendra Modi from poll-bound Karnataka on June 21 evening, the NDA may put the final seal of approval on the name candidate and the formal announcement may be made between June 25 and 30 or even before," a reliable source in BJP said.

Names of Kerala governor Arif Mohammed Khan, former Jharkhand governor Draupadi Murmur and four others are doing the rounds but the NDA may spring a surprise at the eleventh hour.

National Herald: Rahul to face ED grilling today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi will appear on Monday before the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in connection with the National Herald case.

The ED had questioned him for three consecutive days in the last week. Rahul had requested the Central agency to defer further questioning to Monday, citing that he has to tend his ailing mother Soina Gandhi who is in hospital over Covid-related issues.

The agency is questioning Gandhi over a loan of ₹1 crore received by the Young Indian Private Limited through cheque from a Kolkata-based company Dotex Merchandise Pvt. Ltd.

Sonia Gandhi is admitted to Sir Ganga Ram Hospital following post Covid issues. Insiders claim that she is stable but under observation. The 75-year-old had tested positive on June 2. Sonia Gandhi has also been summoned for questioning but as she turned Covid positive her questioning has been postponed.

The questioning of the Gandhis pertains to alleged financial irregularities in Young Indian Private Limited, promoted by the Congress.

India makes a push for accessible tourism

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

AMID global efforts to create universally accessible and inclusive tourism culture, the Union tourism ministry is working on 'accessible tourism guidelines for India' to help both public and private sectors develop their resources and services in accordance with the concept of 'Tourism for All'.

The draft of the guidelines – a guidebook to create the best practices and acceptable standards for accessible tourism—has recently been finalised by the ministry for which it had engaged the IIT-Roorkee as knowledge partner.

The guidebook contains 10 chapters with eight sections on the need for guiding principles for barrier-free tourist-friendly services and infrastructure in India and various interventions such as universal design approach, information accessibility, inclusive mobility and easily reached accommodations to make India future ready and thrive on business opportunities in tourism-based ventures.

"Alongside the beauty of this diversity and rich cultural heritage, India has continued to embrace universality through promoting its tourism amidst other evolutionary developments in the nation. However, in the spirit of progress, India needs to push further to attain high levels of inclusion and then emerge as an accessible tourist destination of the world," reads the draft.

Travel and tourism industry representatives said that the guidelines from the Government would certainly help in spreading awareness and to ensure travellers, hotels and government agencies made adequate arrangements for people in need.

"Like Kids Zone, there should be a demarcated area for senior citizens and visitors with special needs, where they can entertain themselves. The government recommended guidelines will ensure basic services like wheelchairs. I have myself seen that a prominent five star hotel in Delhi couldn't provide a wheelchair to a guest. The government must also find ways for strict adherence to the guidelines," said PP Khanna, president of Association of Domestic Tours Operators of India (ADTOI).

Pandit staffers can choose posting

Administration stands by decision to relocate them to safer places within the Valley

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE administration has directed officials to contact every Pandit employee recruited under the PM's job package in the Valley, and ascertain their choice of posting to a safer place. Divisional Commissioner, Kashmir, Pandurang K Pole, said the transfers will be made only within the Kashmir division, and the place of the new posting will be within municipal limits or within 3 km of municipal cities.

The administration's move comes after the migrant Kashmiri Hindus rejected the government's decision to post them at safer places within the Valley in view of the targeted killings being done by militants. The Hindu employees are demanding for relocation to Jammu till the situation improves in the Valley.

Pole has directed the heads of departments of all government departments in Kashmir to make transfers according to the convenience of the employees.

The staffers are, however, not satisfied with the latest attempt to keep them stationed in the Valley. Reacting to the order, Ranjan, a migrant employee, termed it an "eye wash".

How is it possible to accommodate all the PM package and Jammu-based employees within 3 km of municipal limits? We work in the field. How can we do justice to the job? — Ranjan, a Pandit employee

"How is it possible to accommodate all the PM package and Jammu-based employees within 3 km of municipal limits? We work in the field. How can we do justice to the job while sitting in the DC office," he said.

Ranjan added that most employees recruited under PM's job package are teachers and it is not possible to post all of them in schools near cities. "There are only 3-4 schools within 3 km of municipal limits. Can 300-400 teachers be posted there?," he asked, adding that out of the 5,500 employees, about 4,500 live in rented accommodation. "Where will the government keep them? How will the government ensure their security? What will happen to their children who are studying in different schools?," Ranjan asked.

Reiterating their demand for relocation to Jammu, the Pandit employees say the temporary move will also suit the government, as it will get time to create a security plan and construct more transit accommodation for them in the Valley.

On Defence Minister Rajnath Singh's assertion that forced migration won't be allowed, he said, "Decisions should be taken as per the ground situation, which is not conducive for our safety."

Fear has gripped the staffers serving in the Valley after a series of targeted killings have been carried out by militants since May. The employees have stayed away from duty since May 13, a day after Kashmiri Pandit employee Rahul Bhat was shot dead by militants inside a Tehsil office at Chadoora in Budgam district. Most Pandit and Jammu-based employees have already left the Valley and are camping in Jammu.

Two Pak nationals among 4 terrorists killed in Valley

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

FOUR terrorists, including two Pakistani nationals, were killed in two different encounters that were ongoing in Kashmir on Sunday.

The police and the Army launched a joint search operation in the forest area of Chandigam, Lolab in Kupwara district after information gleaned from an arrested terrorist Showkat Ahmad Sheikh.

"During the search of a hideout, the terrorists fired indiscriminately on the troops. The fire was returned and in the ensuing heavy gunfire, two Pakistani terrorists of Lashkar were killed," a police officer said, adding they suspect a few more terrorists are trapped in the area. The official said heavy exchange of gunfire was continuing.

Another encounter broke out between militants and security forces in Damhal Hanjipora area of Kulgam in south Kashmir around 3.30 pm. "In the ensuing encounter, two local militants were killed," the police official said.

The slain militants were identified as Haris Sharief of Srinagar and Zakir Padder of Kulgam. Haris, according to the police, belonged to Lashkar while Zakir was associated with Jaish.

"Both the killed militants were part of groups involved in several militancy incidents, including attacks on security forces and civilians," the official said. Operation in that area was going on as well when reports last came in.

Meanwhile, the police arrested three associates of Al-Badr outfit during checking in the Wangam area of Handwara. The trio was identified as Nazim Ahmad Bhat, Siraj din Khan and Adil Gull, all residents of Kralgund, Kupwara.

Operations will continue

"By targeting innocent civilians including women and kids, unarmed policemen and labourers, terrorists can't deter our efforts to bring peace in Valley," Inspector General of Police, Kashmir, Vijay Kumar said

PM hails woman power as Guj sees rise in female votes

Ahmedabad : Women voters are at the centre stage for the upcoming Gujarat Assembly elections, with PM Narendra Modi talking about women empowerment, and announcing schemes worth crores for them during his two-day visit. However, critics are pointing at the dismal data for women's safety in the state to raise questions about the BJP government's achievements. The number of women voters in Gujarat has risen to 2.14 crore, marking a 3.45 percent growth from the women who voted during the Assembly elections in 2017. The number of male voters rose by 3.05 percent, rising to 2.32 crore from 2.25 crore in 2017. Targeting the women electorate, Modi unfurled a traditional flag on the Mahakali temple in Panchmahal, a symbol of women's empowerment, while his speeches addressed mothers, sisters and daughters.

'Change Azamgarh into Aryangarh, not Atankgarh'

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

UTTAR Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Sunday launched a scathing attack on the Samajwadi Party (SP) and Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP), calling them 'Rahu and Ketu' who were there just to eclipse the development of the state. Yogi was addressing an election rally at Chakrapanpur in Azamgarh to seek support for BJP candidate Dinesh Lal Yadav 'Nirahua.'

Yogi said that SP and BSP played havoc with the life of the youth by letting corruption to seep in down the line, and other wrong practices to deepen in society, during their respective four and three terms.

"Their politics revolved around family and selfish goals. Development of state, employment of youth, well-being of farmers as well as safety and security of women and citizens were never there on their agenda," Yogi stated, asking people not to allow their district to become a nerve centre of terror again.

He even exhorted the youth of Azamgarh to contribute to the makeover of the district from being infamous as a nursery of terrorism. Yogi said that despite having given two chief ministers, Azamgarh had remained deprived of development and was known across India for the wrong reasons.

"Today, the Purvanchal Expressway has connected Azamgarh with other districts, including the state capital, as one can reach Lucknow from Azamgarh in just two hours. Purvanchal Expressway will also lead to building of industrial clusters, creating job opportunities on a large scale for the youth. Besides, road networks are being expanded to facilitate movement of people from Jaunpur, Ballia and Ghazipur. Air services are also likely to be started in Azamgarh soon," he said, citing how the Mahararaj Suhel Dev University has already been set up to guarantee quality higher education to the students of Azamgarh, saving them from "going to Jaunpur, Kashi or Gorakhpur to secure a degree".

Yogi talked about the development of Varanasi and Gorakhpur during the last five years to convince the people of Azamgarh that the parliamentary segment could also follow the same trajectory of growth if the BJP candidate is voted.

As the state remains in grip of anti-Agnipath demonstrations, the CM appealed to the youth not to get misled by the opposition's propaganda against the new recruitment scheme for defence forces which, he claimed, is in their interest and nation's favour.

SC groom rides mare 1st time in 550 years

In many districts of Rajasthan, SC grooms being forced to get down from the horse in their own wedding processions is a regular feature. But in Nimbada village in Pali district last Sunday, the people of the dominant Rajpurohit society started a unique initiative. Rajpurohits are a majority group in Pali but in the last 550 years in village Nimbada, the Bindoli (marriage procession) of Dalit grooms did not happen on a mare even once. Despite this long tradition, to increase mutual harmony, the Rajpurohit society decided to take out Bindoli of a SC groom with unanimous consent in a village meeting.

Centre pauses release of funds for Bengal over change in scheme names

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE central government has paused the release of funds for West Bengal under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojona (PMAY) and Swachh Bharat Mission (rural), and sought clarifications from Nabanna, the state secretariat, on whether the state government has changed the names of the central schemes.

The state had sent an annual action plan under PMAY and Swachh Bharat scheme, demanding ₹4,900 crore and ₹2,700 crore, respectively, in January, but the Centre has sent queries on the change in the name of the schemes, said a state government official.

The Centre's query has sent jitters in the state secretariat, as the Bengal government had changed the names of several central projects.

In Bengal, the PMAY is known as Bangla Awas Yojona, while the Swachh Bharat Mission and Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojona are called as Nirmal Bangla Mission, and Bangla Sarak Yojona, respectively.

"Every year, the Centre sanctions the action plans by March-end or first week of April. We sent the plans for this year under the two central schemes but instead of sanctioning the funds, the Union government replied with a set of queries related to the change in names of the schemes," a state official said.

Swachh Bharat Mission was launched by the BJP-led Centre in 2014 to improve solid waste management. The PMAY was started by the UPA government to build homes for the poor. It was earlier called Indira Awas Yojona before its name was changed to PMAY.

The Centre's decision has landed the ruling Trinamool Congress in a fix, as most beneficiaries are from rural Bengal and the state will go to the panchayat elections in 2023.

Sources in the state government said the withholding of funds under Swachh Bharat Mission is causing delay in starting solid waste management programmes in around 950 panchayats, while about 41 lakh applications are pending under PMAY.

The Centre gives 60 per cent of the total project cost while the rest is borne by the state government.

TMC MP Sukhendu Sekhar Roy said the central government had first changed the name of PMAY. "They are now finding excuses to fulfil their political goal by depriving the poor of Bengal," he said.

Ahead of the rural polls, the withholding of funds may invite trouble for us. The Centre has already decided to hold the release of ₹6,500 crore under MGNREGA for Bengal, citing anomalies — TMC leader

Gehlot gains 'high stature' in Cong with Rajya Sabha victory, protests

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

AS the Congress has galvanized protests over questioning of Rahul Gandhi by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) and the centre's Agnipath scheme, one leader is emerging as the figurehead of these protests — Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot.

The frontline role has made Gehlot more visible at the centre stage of national politics of the Congress.

Gehlot's stature has risen in the party in recent years. But it went sky-high as he secured Congress win in three out of four Rajya Sabha seats in Rajasthan recently. This included an embarrassing defeat for BJP-backed media baron Subhash Chandra. After the death of Sonia Gandhi's political advisor Ahmed Patel and the formation of the rebel G23 group, Gehlot has emerged as one of the strongest supporters of the Gandhi family.

The three-time chief minister of Rajasthan has worked with three generations of the Gandhi family. He began under Indira Gandhi and then worked as a minister during Rajiv Gandhi's prime ministership. And over the past two decades, he has been closely linked with the Gandhi family under Sonia Gandhi's leadership and has an easy equation with both Rahul and Priyanka.

Last month, Gehlot was the host and main organiser of the Chintan Shivir in Udaipur which was designed for the Congress brass to chalk out the party's strategy for the upcoming state elections and the Lok Sabha polls in 2024.

On Sunday, Gehlot held a major rally in Jaipur to organise Congress cadres and leaders against the Modi government's Agneepath scheme.

"The Prime Minister should understand the sentiments of the youth and withdraw the scheme. The decision was taken without any debate and in a hurry. It is being opposed across the country," Gehlot told media at the Amar Jawan Jyoti where the party leaders gathered for the protest.

Local polls: Maha MLAs to get mock training for voting

MUMBAI: After losing one seat in the Rajya Sabha polls, the Maha Vikas Aghadi is taking all precautions for the elections of Maharashtra legislative council scheduled to happen on June 20.

Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut said they and their alliance partners have kept their MLAs in hotels, where they will be given mock training on how to cast their votes in MLC elections.

"In the Rajya Sabha elections, one vote of ours got disqualified. We do not want to take a risk this time. In Rajya Sabha elections, as per party whip, it is mandatory to show your vote to authorised party agents. But the ballot paper cannot be handed over to the agent. Our Sena MLA by mistake handed it over to the agent, and got disqualified. We will ensure that no such silly mistake happens in MLC elections," Raut said. ENS

Zelenskyy vows to retake south, NATO warns of long-drawn war

Ukrainian president makes rare trip outside Kyiv to Mykolaiv, Odessa; must not weaken support, says NATO chief

KYIV

PRESIDENT Volodymyr Zelenskyy vowed on Sunday that his forces "will not give away the south to anyone" after his first visit to the southern frontline, as NATO's chief warned the war in Ukraine could last "for years".

Making a rare trip outside Kyiv, where he is based for security reasons, Zelenskyy travelled to the hold-out Black Sea city of Mykolaiv and visited troops nearby and in the neighbouring Odessa region for the first time since the Russian invasion.

"We will not give away the south to anyone, we will return everything that's ours and the sea will be Ukrainian and safe," he said in a video posted on Telegram as he made his way back to Kyiv.

He said he talked with troops and police during his visit.

"Their mood is confident, and looking into their eyes it is obvious that they all do not doubt our victory," he said.

While Zelenskyy remained defiant, NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg warned that "we must be prepared for this to last for years."

Speaking to German daily newspaper Bild, Stoltenberg said "We must not weaken in our support of Ukraine, even if the costs are high — not only in terms of military support but also because of rising energy and food prices."

We will definitely restore everything that was destroyed. Russia does not have as many missiles as our people have the desire to live — Volodymyr Zelenskyy, Ukraine President

Russian forces have directed their firepower at the east and south of Ukraine in recent weeks since failing in their bid to take the capital Kyiv after the lightning February 24 invasion.

"The losses are significant. Many houses were destroyed, civilian logistics were disrupted, there are many social issues," Zelenskyy said.

"I have commissioned to make assistance to people who have lost loved ones more systemic. We will definitely restore everything that was destroyed. Russia does not have as many missiles as our people have the desire to live," he said. AFP

Ukraine says repulsed Russian attacks near Severodonetsk

Kyiv: Ukrainian troops repulsed Russian attacks on villages near the eastern city of Severodonetsk, where the two armies have fought bloody battles for weeks, Kyiv's armed forces said on Sunday. "Our units repulsed the assault in the area of Toshkivka," the Ukrainian army said on Facebook. "The enemy has retreated and is regrouping." It said Russian forces were "storming" towards the village of Orikhove, but that it had "successfully repulsed" an assault near the village. A day earlier, officials said fierce battles were taking place in settlements outside Severodonetsk, which they say is mostly, but not entirely, under Russian control. "All declarations by Russians that they control Severodonetsk are lies. Indeed, they control the majority of the city but they do not control it entirely," said local governor Sergiy Gaiday. He said Russian forces are "constantly replenishing their army with reserves", bringing in new troops. AFP

Italy's Eni joins Qatar gas project after Russian cuts

DOHA

ITALIAN company Eni on Sunday joined Qatar Energy's $28.75 billion project to expand production from the world's biggest natural gas field, days after Russia slashed supplies to Italy. Eni will own a stake of just over three per cent in the North Field East project, Qatar Energy's CEO told a signing ceremony in Doha.

Qatar announced last week that France's TotalEnergies will be its first, and largest, foreign partner on the development, with a 6.25 per cent share. An unknown number of companies are also set to be named.

"Today I'm pleased... to announce the selection of Eni as a partner in this unique strategic project," said Qatar's Energy Minister Saad Sherida al-Kaabi, who is also president and CEO of state-owned Qatar Energy.

The project's LNG — the cooled form of gas that makes it easier to transport — is expected to come on line in 2026. It will expand Qatar's LNG production from 77 million tonnes a year to 110 million, Qatar Energy said.

The Qatari company estimates that the North Field, which extends under the Gulf sea into Iranian territory, holds about 10 per cent of the world's known gas reserves.

Russia's invasion of Ukraine has injected urgency into efforts around the world to develop new energy sources as Western countries try to reduce their reliance on Russia.

On Friday, Eni said it would receive only 50 per cent of the gas requested from Russia's Gazprom, the third day running of reduced supplies. Rome has accused Gazprom of peddling "lies" over the cuts.

"We have a lot of things to learn from your leadership and also from your standards and from your ability to adapt to very difficult circumstances," Eni CEO Claudio Descalzi told his Qatari counterpart.

Kaabi refused to divulge how many more partners will be announced. "We signed with everybody. We're just not telling you," he told reporters.

More announcements are due this week. AFP

Hong Kong: Beijing on Sunday appointed a new Hong Kong administration that includes four senior officials under US sanctions. Its incoming leader has decried the US sanctions as an attempt to "bully" China. The US hit 11 Hong Kong and Beijing officials with sanctions two years ago after a sweeping national security law was imposed to snuff out dissent in the semi-autonomous city following the massive democracy protests of 2019. Seven were members of the Hong Kong government, and four will continue in the new administration, including leader-in-waiting John Lee. The other three sanctioned will be replaced. Introducing his new cabinet to reporters on Sunday, Lee said he "scoffed at the so-called sanctions" and paid them no attention. AFP

Thousands of Rohingyas in Bangla hold 'Go Home' rally

KUTUPALONG

TENS of thousands of Rohingya refugees in Bangladesh staged demonstrations on Sunday demanding repatriation back to Myanmar, where they fled a brutal military crackdown five years ago.

Almost a million Rohingya are confined to bamboo and tarpaulin shacks in 34 squalid camps in southeast Bangladesh, with no work, poor sanitation and little access to education.

Their increasingly restrictive host country has banned them from holding rallies since they staged a massive 100,000-strong protest in August 2019.

But authorities allowed several groups of Rohingya to hold simultaneous 'Go Home' marches and rallies ahead of World Refugee Day on Monday.

"We don't want to stay in the camps. Being refugees is not easy. It's hell. Enough is enough. Let's go home," top Rohingya community leader Sayed Ullah said in a speech at one rally.

In 2018, investigators from a United Nations fact-finding mission into the killings and forced mass exodus of Rohingya Muslims in Myanmar concluded that a criminal investigation and prosecution was warranted of top Myanmar generals for crimes against humanity and genocide.

Sunday's demonstrations come after the foreign secretaries of Bangladesh and Myanmar last week held a meeting — their first in nearly three years — by video conference.

A Bangladesh foreign ministry official said during the meeting Dhaka pressed Naypyidaw for the repatriation of Rohingya refugees to start this year. "We are hopeful the repatriation will start after the monsoon this year at least in a limited scale," he said on condition of anonymity.

The police said thousands of refugees, including young children, joined the marches and rallies, standing on roads and alleys with placards that read "Enough is Enough! Let's Go Home". "Over 10,000 Rohingya took part in the rally in the camps under my jurisdiction," police official Naimul Haque told AFP, referring to Kutupalong, the largest refugee settlement in the world.

Authorities deployed extra security in the camps to prevent any violence, Haque said, adding that the demonstrations "passed off peacefully". AFP

Apple staff vote to form 1st US union

SAN FRANCISCO

A MAJORITY of employees at a US Apple store have voted to form a union, a first for the tech giant, which has so far tried to discourage unionising attempts.

Of the 110 employees at the Towson, Maryland shop, 65 voted in favour and 33 against, according to a live count broadcast on Saturday by the federal agency overseeing the vote.

The vote comes after a group of employees called AppleCORE (Coalition of Organised Retail Employees) campaigned for unionisation.

"We did it Towson! We won our union vote! Thanks to all who worked so hard and all who supported! Now we celebrate... Tomorrow we keep organising," AppleCORE tweeted.

They are demanding a say in deciding on wages, hours and safety measures.

Saturday's result means that the shop's employees, who have been voting since Wednesday, should form their own branch of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) union, once the agency has certified the results. AFP

120 party-goers arrested in north Iran

Tehran: The police have arrested 120 people for breaking Iran's segregation and morality rules at a party in the forest in the northern province of Mazandaran, state media reported Sunday. "Members of this illegal tour... were arrested by the morality police and a lawsuit has been filed," provincial judiciary chief Mohammad Sadegh Akbari said, quoted by state broadcaster IRIB. Akbari said the "criminal acts" conducted in a forest near the city of Neka included "drinking alcohol, having illicit relationships, mixed-sex dancing and uncovering the hijab". Iranians, seeking reprieve from the hustle and bustle of city life, often choose the north of the country as a destination for sightseeing and enjoying their free time. Islamic State claims attack on Sikh gurdwara in Kabul

KABUL

THE Islamic State has claimed responsibility for the deadly terror attack on a gurdwara in Afghanistan's capital Kabul that killed two persons, including one Sikh community member, calling it "an act of support" for the Prophet.

Several blasts tore through Gurdwara Karte Parwan in Kabul's Bagh-e Bala neighbourhood on Saturday while Afghan security personnel thwarted a bigger tragedy by stopping an explosive-laden vehicle from reaching the place of worship of the minority community.

In a statement posted on its Amaq propaganda site late Saturday, the Islamic State ' Khorasan Province (ISKP), an affiliate of the Islamic State militant group, said the attack targeted Hindus and Sikhs and the "apostates" who protected them in "an act of support for the Messenger of Allah".

The group said one of its fighters "penetrated a temple for Hindu and Sikh polytheists" in Kabul, after killing the guard, and opened fire on the worshippers inside with his machine gun and hand grenades. It was the latest targeted assault on a place of worship of the Sikh community in Afghanistan. The three attackers were killed by the Taliban forces.

The terror attack on the gurdwara came days after the ISKP in a video message warned of an attack against Hindus to avenge the remarks against Prophet Mohammad by two former BJP functionaries. AFP

Sri Lanka troops open fire to contain fuel riots

COLOMBO

SRI LANKA'S military opened fire to contain rioting at a fuel station, officials said on Sunday as unprecedented queues for petrol and diesel were seen across the bankrupt country.

Troops fired in Visuvamadu, 365 kilometres (228 miles) north of Colombo, on Saturday night as their guard point was pelted with stones, army spokesman Nilantha Premaratne said.

"A group of 20 to 30 people pelted stones and damaged an army truck," said Premaratne The police said four civilians and three soldiers were wounded when the army opened fire for the first time to quell unrest linked to the worsening economic crisis.

As the pump ran out of petrol, motorists began to protest and the situation escalated into a clash with troops, police said.

The nation's 22 million population has been enduring acute shortages and long queues for scarce supplies.

Sri Lanka has deployed armed police and troops to guard fuel stations.

The police said clashes involving motorists erupted at three locations over the weekend.

At least six constables were wounded in one clash while seven motorists were arrested.

The government declared a two-week shutdown of state institutions and schools in a bid to reduce commuting and conserve depleting fuel stocks in the impoverished nation. AFP

SOMETHING 'FISHY'

Dutch celebrate herring fest after 2 yrs, swallow 'slippery snack'

SCHEVENINGEN

HEADS tilted far back, Dutch revellers hold the raw, onion-coated fish by their tails and drop them down their open gullets. Welcome to the port of Scheveningen, where the Netherlands is marking the arrival of the season's first catch of new herring.

Cancelled for two years because of Covid, this year's festival drew tens of thousands of fans of the divisive delicacy.

Former fisherman Simon Pronk, 72, said the oily fish were the "most important thing" for Scheveningen.

Every year from around mid-June, the Dutch consume millions of herring, and people can be seen all round the country swallowing the slippery snack.

Some prefer it in a soft white bun, although purists say it detracts from the fishy flavour.

The first barrel of herring sparks a yearly bidding war, with this year's raising a record 113,500 euros ($119,130) for charity. But it hasn't all been going so swimmingly for this fishing port near The Hague.

Scheveningen has been battered in recent years by dwindling stocks, Brexit rows over fishing grounds, and the pandemic.

This year the festival, known as "Vlaggetjesdag" (day of the little flags), returned to its former glory, with ships lining the harbour and dozens of stalls selling herring and fishing-related trinkets on Saturday.

A Dutch navy submarine even docked at the harbour to mark the occasion.

The popularity of eating raw fish, prepared only by freezing and salting, can baffle foreigners. But German tourist Thilo was lapping up the festival, especially after two years of Covid curbs.

"It's great," the 47-year-old said. AFP

Full and Final settlement: Things to know

F&F process involves clearing dues for employee's service till the last working day; Processing time is 30-45 days

BIVEKANANDA BISWAS
@ New Delhi

CHANGE is the only constant, which precisely means that old employees leave for better opportunities and new ones join. One of the major parts of the process while leaving a company is full and final settlement or F&F – the process involves clearing dues for the employee's service till the last working day.

The F&F consists of clearances from various departments such as admin, office library, IT, finance, HR, and of course the department, which the employee belongs to. The employee has to return all the company assets – laptop, mobile, computer, books, or any other thing - in their possession. The company may deduct money for any damage in the F&F settlement.

The F&F process is mainly a financial settlement such as unpaid salary (including annual benefits - leave travel allowance) and arrears, unpaid bonus, payment for non-availed leaves or earned leave, Gratuity, if one completes four years and 240 days, and pension.

Gratuity and earned leave are exempted from tax deducted at source (TDS). Other deductions in the process include profession tax, provident fund, income tax and compensation for unserved notice period.

Under Section 192 of the Income Tax Act, all other payments attract TDS, say experts.

Time taken for settlement

Going strictly by the rules, the final settlement should take place on an employee's last working day at the organization, they say. However, as clearances take time, normal processing time is 30-45 days after an employee leaves a company. For gratuity, it should be paid within 30 days after leaving the company, while bonuses must be paid within the specified accounting year.

Laws pertaining to the payment and wages say that the salary of a particular month should be paid by 10th of the next month. However, when an employee resigns from an organisation, the salary for the respective month is held back, and paid only at the time of full & final settlement. Apart from the salary held back, the employee also gets annual components like leave travel allowance (LTA) or other accrued dues. These annual benefits are paid on a pro rata basis, and are calculated up to the employee's last working day. Also, an important part of the F&F calculation is leave encashment. Leaves policy varies from company to company, hence the encashment calculation of this component could be different.

While tendering resignation one should ensure he has enough money to meet expenses in the interim period between the day one resigns and when he is going to get the next salary, says Jitendra Solanki, a SEBI-registered investment expert based in Noida, "As a standard rule, one should have at least 6 months' salary."

Tax deductions, EPF & others

Employee provident fund: The EPF/pension should be transferred to the new employer or paid to the employee. The employee will receive the fund balance retirement.

Gratuity: An employee is entitled for gratuity when they serve a company for four years and 10 months or more. After completion of this period, if an employee resigns or is being terminated, becomes entitled to receive gratuity within 30 days. In case of any delay in payment during F&F settlement beyond 30 days, interest is payable to the employee.

Tax deduction: Any tax liability arising on the F&F amount is deducted from the amount payable to the employee.

According to Razorpay, if an employer doesn't process the F&F settlement on time, the employee can take legal action and demand payment of a penalty for the delay. The employee can also lodge a police complaint if the employer fraudulently avoids paying the F&F amount. Human resource practitioners say an employee should appraise their boss in advance so that the management will have time to complete pending projects and hire a replacement.

Rimjhim Hada, founder of Aachho says however toxic a place may be, one should leave a company on good note and rather than quitting immediately the employee should serve notice period peacefully and can offer to assist the transition.

QUICK INFORMATION ON FINAL SETTLEMENT

- Going by rules, final settlement should take place on an employee's last working day
- As per Wages Act, 1936, unpaid salary for the previous month should be paid by 7th or 10th of the following month
- Leaves policy varies from company to company, hence encashment calculation of this component could be different

- Any tax liability arising on the FnF amount is deducted from the amount payable to the employee
- Gratuity and earned leave are exempted from tax deducted at source (TDS)

SHOULD YOU LET YOUR TEEN TRADE IN THE EQUITY MARKETS?

FINANCIAL ADVICE

PV SUBRAMANYAM

writes at www.subramoney.com and has authored the best seller 'Retire Rich - Invest ₹ 40 a day'

WELL, as a true journalist I can assure you that I will do advocacy, but you have to take the Judgemental call.

In the USA, teen trading is officially allowed and it has reached very high numbers. In India, you do not have the ability to contract, so technically a minor cannot trade. I do not think a teen can even invest, but however a teen can own shares that are bequeathed (Transmission) or Gifted to him by some elders.

However, I do see parents opening an account in their own name and giving it to the children to manage. Many of the kids do trade shares, commodities, and of course Bitcoins (aka cryptocurrency).

Teaching children to earn, save, and invest is our duty as parents - and the earlier we start, the better it is for the kids. However, whether 'day-trading' is part of that is a big question mark indeed. Personally, teaching them about Goal setting, Compounding, Equity, Debt, Mutual fund - far more difficult and far less sexy - is what Financial education is the need of the day!

Learning about stock scams, online scams, portfolio building, risks, is far more important than knowing how to do a buy and sell transactions. Buying and selling shares is easy - knowing what to buy, why to buy, how long to hold is a far more important thing to learn. I would rather have my kid create (build) an imaginary portfolio - and reward the kid for the profits earned. If my daughter made a profit on her portfolio (of say ₹25000) I can put 25,000 in her mutual fund. Such offers are better - it will mean that there is learning. Also if you are a long-term investor, the rewards will have to be on a Mark To Market basis.

If you are going to allow your teen to trade, then, lay down the ground rules - no FnO, no crypto-currencies, only long term investing, making an Investment Philosophy Statement, making a 'note' on all 'Buy' and 'Sell' decisions. Let the teen learn about investing with a small amount - if you must. Use this as an opportunity to make the teen write or articulate all the decisions. Teach portfolio construction, logic for investing, accounting for dividend, capital preservation, etc. Also make rules that only 'X' amount will be available for one year, what shares can't be bought (like you may not want him to buy Tobacco - so ITC is out), etc.

Meme Stocks - so Asian Paints, Sun Pharma, ITC, Hdfc - which show up in a 'Google search' of 'best shares to buy could be dangerous, so your teen may not be using his brain, but just his Social Media skills and chatting skills to build his portfolio!

Most of us have an appetite for apps. We use them for banking, mutual fund investing, airline bookings, etc. Of course, there are apps that have made it easy to invest online. Online trading platforms have many ways of attracting us to them and lure us to trade - whether it be Bitcoin or equity or Futures and Options. It is all built to attract the younger audience and make it like a game. It is important for your teen to realize that online investing can be fast, racy, addicting and very large loss-making. Understanding the risks is very important - remember they are not earning or losing points, they are playing with real money.

Relief rally likely post oil's fall on recession fear

RAM SAHGAL @Mumbai

OPTIONS data signal that the Nifty could move in a 714-point range between 14943 and 15657 this week, with analysts expecting a relief rally after oil's sharp, overnight fall of 5% Friday on fears of demand destruction amid a rate hike induced recession in the US. They caveated, however, that continued FII selling could act as a spoiler to a potential relief rally. The Nifty closed at 15293.5 and the Sensex at 51360.42 on Friday. The Nifty shed 908 points last week after FIIs sold a whopping 25,360 crore worth of shares, including Friday's provisional figure of ₹7819 crore.

"There is a chance for a bounce through 15600 plus, before the market vends its way lower again," said Rohit Srivastava, founder, IndiaCharts. "FIIs have created over 1.4 lakh net short positions on index futures (Nifty and Bank Nifty) and this could result in some short covering as has happened in the past whenever their net short positions exceeded 1 lakh contracts."

To be sure, on Friday the FIIs covered 5195 short index futures by buying them back, but they still hold in excess of 1.4 lakh shorts and any rally will hinge on their covering these apart from slowing down their cash market sales.

The relentless selling has been induced more recently by the US Fed raising rates by 75 bps on June 15, the most since 1994. This results in a flight of capital from emerging market equities and bonds into the dollar. The fall in the markets from the record high of 18604.45 in October last year could have been sharper had domestic institutional investors not been counterparties to FII sales.

For instance, since October through mid-June, FIIs have net sold shares worth a cumulative ₹2.27 lakh crore while DIIs have been net buyers worth ₹2.72 lakh crore.

The fact that markets have fallen despite DIIs having absorbed FII sales in good measure, indicates sales by rich investors and corporates who don't invest through the mutual fund route. Companies with significant FPI holding include the likes of ICICI Bank, HDFC twins, ITC, HUL etc. These have substantial weightage on the index. Other analysts added that for any meaningful rally FII sales would have to taper, else the market could test 14200-14400 levels, going forward.

Differentiate between the money you need now and you don't

RAJAS KELKAR

THE first half of 2022 is almost over. It is that time when you can sit back to review your financial well-being. From the headline data, things are not looking good. The inflation demon has not only raised the head but is pushing up the cost of money. Last week, the Reserve Bank of India projected that it would likely remain above the upper tolerance level of 6% through the first three quarters of 2022-23.

There can be no more significant problem for your money than persistently high inflation. It takes away the value of your savings. The natural reaction is to put more into high-interest-rate instruments. Banks are quick to attract your attention by raising fixed deposit rates. The news is going from bad to worse for those looking at alternatives to hedge inflation. Gold prices usually rise due to high demand. However, gold prices have remained flat since January 2022.

A lot of you thought crypto assets could be the hedge. Since January, the value of bitcoin, the most popular one, has tumbled 60%, while stable coins like Ethereum are down 70%. This column cautioned about investing in crypto assets in October 2021. At that time, the International Monetary Fund's Financial Stability Report warned of a threat to financial stability. Paul Krugman, a Nobel economics laureate and a columnist at The New York Times, wrote in his latest column that these were not replacement currencies, no hedge against inflation or risk diversification instruments. He called them 'predatory junkyards'.

Equity markets are tumbling around the world. The S&P BSE Sensex and Nifty have shed nearly 10% since January 2022. However, Indian shares are doing better than other markets due to strong domestic institutional investors' support. That needs to hold up for markets to remain relatively stable. It is hard to imagine that local investors would panic along with foreigners. According to most forecasts, India's economy is expected to grow at over 7%. In such a situation, the profits of companies that depend on the country's economic growth continue to grow. A survey of manufacturing companies by the Federation of Industry Chambers and Commerce of India FICCI last week noted that more than 54% of respondents witnessed a higher production level in the first quarter of 2022-23. The average increase in production was 10% for most companies surveyed.

> Identify your savings in two parts-the money you need now and the money you need in your later years. Build an emergency fund slowly by parking it in fixed deposits or liquid mutual funds. — Rajas Kelkar

Indian shares are better off

Equity markets are tumbling around the world. However, Indian shares are doing better due to strong domestic institutional investors' support.

SOURAV ROY

That is good news from a 'jobs' creation standpoint. The regular flow of money from the systematic investment plans in equity mutual funds and index funds is helping India cushion the setback of rising interest rates around the world.

Splitting your savings

There are interest rate and stock market cycles. You need to understand that equity share prices go through cycles but follow steady profit growth. Once you get the hang of that, you must think through it well. Identify your savings in two parts-the money you need now and the money you need in your later years. Build an emergency fund slowly by parking it in fixed deposits or liquid mutual funds. You can use a similar strategy for financial goals like down-payment for a home loan or buying a car.

The second part of your savings is the money you pay yourself for later. That money must find its way into equity assets. You must stick to that amount each month and keep adding to both buckets. You can determine the split by talking to an independent financial advisor. Your investments need to ally with your financial goals. Staying invested in equity assets and slowly adding to your systematic investments is a good idea for salaried individuals.

Those who buy or sell equity assets directly can look at the fall in the market as an annual sale. Good quality companies have shed value to get into a reasonable valuation zone. Very few analysts are saying that the market is now in an 'attractive' valuation zone. However, most stockbroking reports advise 'accumulate' for quality companies. That is an idea you need to work with too.

FM to meet heads of PSBs on Monday

New Delhi: Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman is scheduled to meet the heads of public sector banks (PSBs) on Monday to review the performance of the lenders and the progress made by them on various schemes launched by the government for the revival of the economy. Banks would be urged to sanction loans for productive sectors to accelerate the revival of the economy, sources said, PTI reported.

Inflation to come down by yr end: Economists

New Delhi: A combination of normal rainfalls aiding bumper agriculture output and the RBI further hiking interest rates to cut easy money in the system hold key to bringing down multi-year high inflation triggered by surging food and fuel prices, economists said, says PTI. Although the government has room to further reduce excise duty on petroleum products, emphasis will be on monetary policy, they added.

SGBs saw maximum traction in Covid-hit years; next tranche opens Monday

NEW DELHI: Investment in Sovereign Gold Bonds (SGBs) went up sharply during Covid-impacted years as investors looked for safer options amid volatility in equity markets with 2020-21 and 2021-22 accounting for nearly 75% of total sales of the bonds since the inception of the scheme in November 2015.

The next tranche of SGBs is scheduled to open for subscription for five days beginning Monday. The issue price has been fixed at ₹5,091 per gram of gold. It will be the first issuance of the current fiscal.

The government in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India has offered a discount of ₹50 per gram less than the nominal value to those investors applying online and the payment against the application is made through digital mode.

A total of ₹38,693 crore (90 tonnes of gold) has been raised through the scheme since its inception in November 2015, as per a RBI data.

During 2021-22 and 2020-21, the two Covid-impacted financial years, investors bought the bonds for an aggregate amount of ₹29,040 crore or about 75% of the total sales of the SGBs since its launch. The Reserve Bank issued 10 tranches of SGBs during 2021-22 for an aggregate amount of ₹12,991 crore (27 tonnes). During 2020-21, the central bank issued 12 tranches of SGBs for an aggregate amount of ₹16,049 crores (32.35 tonnes). A total of ₹9,652.78 crore (30.98 tonnes) were raised at the end of the fiscal 2019-20 through the scheme in 37 tranches since its inception in November 2015.

The first tranche of SGBs was launched in November 2015. Subsequently, two tranches were floated in January and March 2016. Rishad Manekia, Founder & MD, Kairos Capital, a Mumbai-based SEBI-registered investment advisory firm, said SGBs can be seen as a substitute for holding physical gold plus it has a yield component. It has the advantage of being government-backed and an easy-to-store option.

"One thing to look out for in these instruments is the lack of liquidity and the lack of diversification. If you hold the bonds till maturity then liquidity is not an issue. However, if you wanted to exit early, your options are much more limited," he said. The tenor of the SGBs is for a period of eight years with an option of premature redemption after fifth year.

Deepak Jain, Chief Executive, TaxManager.in said that SGBs are one of the safest modes of investment which not only gives capital appreciation but also gives interest payment along with government guarantee. "But if you are looking for aggressive returns then this is not the right investment for you. So as the case may be ' in your investment portfolio ' SGB should not be more than 5% to 8% of the total investments," he said. On the taxation of Sovereign Gold Bonds, Kunal Savani, Partner, Cyril Amarchand Mangaldas said the special tax regime provided in the Income-tax Act, 1961 for the taxation of Sovereign Gold Bonds (SGBs), has been designed to encourage and incentivise investors to hold gold in non-physical form for a long period of time.

MAN BEHIND MP's DREAM RUN

From 405 camps to players' dossiers to sessions at Infantry School: MP's journey to Ranji final

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

MADHYA Pradesh entered the Ranji Trophy final after registering a massive 174-run victory over Bengal in the semifinal in Bengaluru on Saturday. They have waited for it for a long period — 23 years to be precise. Chandrakant Pandit, now the head coach of the team, had captained the side to the summit clash then at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium, Bengaluru against Karnataka. Incidentally, the final will once again be played at the same venue but opponents will be different this time around with 41-time champions Mumbai desperate to add yet another trophy to their cabinet after a few barren seasons.

Whatever happens, when the final begins on June 22, one thing is certain. Former India wicketkeeper-batter Pandit has managed to transform the side completely. But it didn't happen overnight or in a season. Since he has taken over as the head coach early in 2020, Pandit has conducted 405 camps for

Chandrakant Pandit

150 cricketers from Madhya Pradesh. They included almost everyone from senior Ranji players to boys and girls from various age-groups teams.

"He handled 150 players at a time. It was incessant training beginning at 9 in the morning and continuing till 6 in the evening. That continued for more than two years and the results are there for everyone to see. The men's team reached the Colonel CK Nayudu Trophy quarterfinals, U-19 girls finished as runners-up in the One-Day tournament while the senior women's team from the state reached the knock-outs. Now the senior team is in the Ranji Trophy final," Sanjeev Rao, secretary of the Madhya Pradesh Cricket Association (MPCA), told this daily.

Given that they last reached the Ranji semifinal in 2015-16, MPCA was desperate for a turnaround. Their desperation was on display when the office-bearers first met Pandit. "The first thing he told us is that he cannot guarantee results. Instead, he said that he can guarantee hard work, dedication, and work ethic and the results will follow. He emphasised that results are the end products. To have them, you have to follow procedures and processes," added Rao, former MP cricketer.

Pandit brought in things with which most of the cricketers from the state were unfamiliar. From on-the-spot coaching while umpiring the practice matches to sending directives to players via microphone from the boundary ropes. He even asked the players to assemble at the stadium after midnight for training under floodlights to check how alert their minds and body are. The players also had sessions with instructors from Infantry School, one of the three premier training institutes of the Indian Army. "These lectures from instructors of Infantry School helped players become mentally tough. We also called these instructors to Indore to continue the sessions."

The former Mumbai and Vidarbha coach also prepared a dossier of each player. "That dossier was evaluated every month. He used to suggest what needs to be done and how that cricketer can improve further."

Acclimatisation in Bengaluru

Even as the quarterfinals were scheduled to begin on June 6, the MP team reached Bengaluru on May 18. The goal was to get acclimatised and be better prepared than their rivals.

FIH Pro League: India men & women lose

ROTTERDAM: A valiant Indian women's hockey team squandered a one-goal lead to lose 2-3 to Olympic silver medallist Argentina in the second match of the double-leg FIH Pro League tie here on Sunday. Argentina won the FIH Pro League crown, finishing with 42 points from 16 games, 10 clear of second placed Netherlands, who still have two games remaining. In the men's section, Argentina got the better of India 3-2 to clinch the Pro League title.

Manu and Shiva win mixed team pistol title

BHOPAL: The Haryana duo of Manu Bhaker and Shiva Narwal won the 10m air pistol mixed team title at the 20th Kumar Surendra Singh Memorial Shooting competition here on Sunday. They beat the experienced pair of Amanpreet Singh and Shweta Singh of ONGC 16-8 in the gold medal match. Esha Singh of Telangana claimed two bronze medals on the day. She teamed up with Kaushik Gopu to win bronze in both the senior and junior mixed team competitions.

BOTH of them lost their left foot to a landmine during counter-insurgency operations in Nowshera, Jammu. It meant they had to change their respective sports. Narayana K was a canoeist while Kuldeep Singh used to play volleyball before the injuries sustained in the respective incidents. Both switched to rowing on the advice of Colonel Gaurav Dutta, chairman of the Para-Rowing Commission, Rowing Federation of India (RFI)

Since the switch, the army duo has never looked back. They started with a bronze at the PR3 M2- (men's coxless pair) at the World Rowing Cup 2 in Poznan, Poland in 2019. They followed it up with another bronze at the Asian Rowing Championships in Chungju, South Korea in the same year in PR3 Mixed4+ with Jyoti and Kritika. Narayana and Kuldeep returned to Poznan to compete in the 2022 edition of the World Cup and they made sure that they finished on the podium. The duo finished third behind rowers from France and Ukraine in PR3 M2- with the timing of 7:33.35. "In 2017, the Army had established a dedicated para node at Bombay Engineering Group in Pune. Rowing was one of the four disciplines introduced initially and Narayana and Kuldeep started their partnership there," Dutta told this daily. "They suffered injuries during counter-insurgency operations in Jammu. Given their height and weight, which matter a lot in rowing, I advised them to take up rowing," added Dutta.

It is open to both male and female rowers with a disability who meet the criteria set out in the 'Para-rowing Classification Regulations and Bye-Laws'. Para-rowing was formerly called adaptive rowing and was first raced at the 2002 World Rowing Championships in Seville. "I was with the 54th RR Battalion and posted in Nowshera, Jammu in 2015. It was then during an ambush that I lost my left foot after I accidentally placed it on a landmine," said 33-year-old Narayana who hails from Andhra. Kuldeep, who is with Jat Regiment, met the same fate a couple of years earlier in the same region. "While patrolling in 2013, my left foot was blown away because of a landmine. Dutta sir asked me to take up rowing," said Kuldeep, 30, who is from Haryana. The duo now wants to win medals for the country in the Asian Championships.

Promising series to build on for India

GOMESH S @ Chennai

A T20I series decider between two top sides on a Sunday. It was all primed to be the perfect weekend entertainment with a packed atmosphere at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium in Bengaluru. Despite the imminent threat of rain, it seemed like things were going good as the toss happened on time. But just as the Indian openers took guard, the heavens opened. After a brief delay, play did start a good 30-40 minutes late.

Ishan Kishan, after scoring two sixes in the opening over, lost his stumps to a slower ball. Fellow opener Ruturaj Gaikwad also was deceived by the slower ball before the rain gods visited once again. This time the downpour was non-stop and play was ultimately called off at 9.37 PM, with India on 28/2 after 3.3 overs.

While the series might have ended in 2-2, despite the known flaws in the way India generally approach the format, there was a lot of promise, especially in the absence of the senior trio — captain Rohit Sharma, Virat Kohli and KL Rahul — at the top-order. For starters, they were showing a lot more intent with the bat. Sometimes it did cost them, like in the first two T20Is, but they were consistent with their approach and team selections, playing an unchanged XI in all five matches. While it did come as a bit of a surprise, their head coach Rahul Dravid was clear on what to expect ahead of the series. With Bhuvneshwar Kumar being the only experienced pacer in the squad, Umran Malik, and Arshdeep Singh had got call-ups. But only Avesh Khan got to play and he showed his capabilities, especially in the fourth T20I. Harshal Patel took wickets, Bhuvneshwar got better with every game he played. And then there was Yuzvendra Chahal and Hardik Pandya amongst the thick of things as well. "It was incredible to see the fast bowling talent we have (during the IPL), especially with few of the bowlers clocking such speeds," Dravid told the host broadcaster ahead of the match.

Rishabh Pant (L) & Shreyas Iyer walk back after rain stopped play during the 5th T20I against South Africa in Bengaluru | SPORTZPICS

In the batting department, Ishan, Ruturaj, Hardik and Dinesh Karthik all had their moments. Perhaps the only concern is the lack of impact knocks from their captain Rishabh Pant. It could be interesting to see how things play out with Sanju Samson and Karthik in the mix.

Make no mistake, Rohit, Kohli and Rahul will walk into the side when they come back. But this series gave a glimpse of what the Indian T20I side could be without them. And it is promising to say the least. "A lot of youngsters got an opportunity to showcase their skills, and a lot of them came good, those are really good signs for Indian cricket, exciting times ahead," Dravid said on Sunday. With several T20I games lined-up in the lead up to the World Cup, it will also cause a problem of plenty for the team management and the selectors. But it would probably be a headache they would be happy to have.

Racing towards a dream

This 11-year-old city-based motorbike racer, who is currently in Coimbatore for the Indian National Motorcycle Racing Championship 2022, speaks to CE about his journey from Cubbon Park to a competitive forum

MONIKA MONALISA

IT takes a village to bring up a child but Bengaluru's 11-year-old biker Shreyas Hareesh would say he just needs his father, Hareesh Parandhaman to help him reach his dream. The young racer recently secured the second position at the MRF MMSC FMSCI Indian National Motorcycle Racing Championship 2022 held in Coimbatore.

Shreyas Hareesh in second place

He started biking at the age of nine, sports the number 39 on his racing suit and is popularly called 'The Bengaluru Kid' on track. Hareesh started riding his bicycle by the age of 5 and what followed were weekly visits to Cubbon Park, where he honed his skills. By the time he was eight, Shreyas was riding the Kawasaki KLX110, a well-built, track racing training bike. At nine, Shreyas was competing at local events, and he competed in his first race held at the Adichunchanagiri Mutt in Hassan where he stood first.

Shreyas aims to win at MotoGP, and his inspiration is Marc Marquez from Spain. This is quite evident from his room decor, which mainly consists of Marquez's posters. "I got the love of riding bikes from my father, and have always enjoyed them," says Shreyas, who holds a racing licence issued by the FMSCI (Federation of Motor Sports Club in India).

Hareesh started his journey to racing through dirt bike racing but lost valuable practice time due to Covid restrictions. However, that didn't stop him from achieving his dreams. He started racing on track last year.

Talent like this at a young age surprised his parents initially, but one conversation made Hareesh's father realise his seriousness about his sport. "One day he asked why India's national anthem wasn't being played at the MotoGP, to which I explained it's the winning country's anthem that's played first." This made him want to hear India's national anthem play first, recalls an emotional Parandhaman while speaking to CE from San Diego.

To understand the intensity of the sport, Parandhaman went through biographies of legendary racers and realised that parents' involvement is a crucial factor. "I had to quit my job at a pharmaceutical company to give my 100 per cent to Shreyas. I would never let him go for a race without me. All his bikes are made right in front of me," says the father, who started working again when sponsors were scarce.

ALL IN A MINUTE

Arab-Israeli vlogger Nuseir Yassin of Nas Daily, who was in the city recently, is working on building a community of quality content creators

ANILA KURIAN

IF you've been on social media lately, the chances of you seeing Nas Daily's videos are pretty high. Started by Arab-Israeli vlogger Nuseir Yassin, Nas Daily creates one-minute videos about everything that matters. Be it talking about private jet plane owners or stories about a guy who will never die, the channel covers it all.

On Saturday, Yassin and the Nas Daily team held a networking event where content creators, investors and entrepreneurs from across the country came under one roof. "We had about 10,000 applicants when we announced on Instagram but we could only admit 200 of them," he says.

The entrepreneur quit his job at Venmo (USA) in 2016 and decided to explore the 'world'. His intention was to document his experiences through videos. This eventually led to him starting his Facebook page called Nas Daily where 'nas' means 'people' in Arabic. Over the course of time, he created 1,000 one-minute-long videos and gained followers. He started his YouTube channel in 2019 and now has 3.4 million followers on Instagram. "When I moved from Israel to study at Harvard University, I never thought I'd become famous. That was never the goal. My intention was to become an entrepreneur and connect with as many people as I could through content. I wanted to open up to a positive world and showcase to others all the other good things going on," he says.

What they do at Nas Daily is build products that enable one to start a community, manage, advertise, integrate into social media, understand the video insights and know about the best and worst in the market — all of which is done through video content. "Instagram and Tik Tok aren't enough to build a platform like this. We need intimate gatherings like the one we had in Bengaluru," he says.

Six years ago, when Yassin pitched the idea for the one-minute video, no one bought it. "I truly believe that 2022 is the year for a one-minute video. Even back then, I made a hypothesis that one-minute videos are the future. So I guess we've been in the right place at the right time," he says.

Nuseir Yassin

However, with many content creators out there, Yassin says it's important for one to have a clear vision of why they are creating videos. "Most new-age creators start because of three reasons — to be famous, become rich and want to be powerful and influential. Go for being powerful and influential and be careful about being famous and rich. Be careful with your motivation of why you want to be a creator because you should make your content around that and not just about you," he shares.

On a mission to take Nas Daily to more countries, Yassin is travelling with his team now. With a stopover at Chennai and then off to New York, the Dubai resident is happy to have a warm welcome in India. "A part of me feels like I am Indian too because we have the same struggles and aspirations. My upbringing has been similar to that of an Indian, but with a different context, of course. I'm honoured to have the followers I do and can't wait to continue building a community in the years to come," he says.

THIS SPACE THAT BRINGS WITH IT OLD-WORLD CHARM COMPLETES 40 YEARS THIS MONTH

MILESTONE MOMENT

ISHRATH MUBEEN

WHEN superstar Kamal Haasan visited the city earlier this month, he was passing by the iconic Windsor Manor Bridge to reach the event venue (Mantri Mall), when his chauffeur remarked that he always thinks of Haasan every time he drives past the bridge. It was, after all, where Hassan's blockbuster, Pushpaka Vimana was shot in the year 1987.

ITC Windsor, which turns 40 this month, has been host to several Bollywood and regional movies. Pushpaka Vimana's storyline of a penniless man's changing fortunes unfolds primarily in and around the then Windsor Manor Hotel. And in addition to the bridge, the film also includes shots in the banquet halls.

The star property which brings with it old-world charm has played host to illustrious guests and world leaders like the former British Prime Minister Tony Blair, former German chancellor H E Gerhard Schroeder, His Holiness the Dalai Lama, Sir Elton John, Chinese Premier Wen Jiabao, and former president of India, late Dr APJ Abdul Kalam.

In fact, they also hosted judges and participants from across the world during the first-ever Miss World Pageant in India in 1996. During the first three editions of the Indian Premier League, popular cricketers, including Sourav Ganguly, dined at the restaurants.

Deepak Menezes, who has recently taken charge as general manager of the hotel, is obviously all-smiles about the milestone moment.

"It's not a hotel, it is an experience to be lived. It's about bringing back memories and reminiscing about the past as we take a walk down the memory lane of the last four decades," he says, adding that it's 40 days of celebration with a range of offers, curated menus, and surprises to mark this occasion.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN B'LURU

K-pop heart-throbs Bangtan Sonyeondan (BTS) have been the talk of town in recent times after their announcement on disbanding sent fans in the city into a tizzy

VAIGHNA RAJ & VAISHNA RAJ

K-POP sensation BTS announced their plans to focus on their solo careers and music. This announcement at their annual BTS Festa dinner, last Tuesday, has thrown fans into a frenzy.

"They gave their blood, sweat, and tears to their career, and they will be exhausted and in need of space. The K-pop industry is not as great as it seems, but whatever their decision is, we fans have to respect that and keep on supporting them no matter what," says 23-year-old student Sayantika Chatterjee, who is an enthusiastic BTS fan.

The annual dinner was hosted to celebrate nine years of togetherness of the band with their fans, known as 'Army'. However, this year's dinner was a bittersweet one, for both the fans and the band, which comprises Kim Namjoon, Kim Seokjin, Min Yoongi, Jung Hoseok, Park Jimin, Kim Taehyung and Jeon Jeongkook.

BREAK TIME

Kim Namjoon, aka RM, the leader and spokesperson of Bangtan Sonyeondan (BTS), a K-pop boy band, announced that he's been unsure of the direction of the band for quite some time now. "We've lost our direction, and I want some time to think." Despite feeling that they were letting fans down by taking a break, Min Yoongi aka Suga said, "It's not like we are disbanding!" However, Kim Taehyung is confident that the band will regroup, asserting that their 'synergy' will be like no other.

Currently in Bengaluru, Fernaaz Feroze Kazi, who has been a fan of BTS for four years, had eagerly awaited the comeback with the latest BTS album, Proof. She recalls that the announcement shocked her.

"The music video (of Yet To Come) was everything, filled with symbols from different periods of their career," she says. But the recent announcement regarding their off-period took her some time to process. She adds, "It's made me sad – not because they are taking a break from group activities, but because they were scared of how we would react to them going on a resting period. It was so hard to see them tear up during their talk."

Twenty-three-year-old Unnamalai Lakshman, another die-hard fan, was frustrated watching the Festa dinner where the band hesitatingly shared the need for a break.

"I hope that through this break, they can 'find their direction' as they said themselves, and come back stronger and better," she says.

Xbox and Bethesda Showcase 2022

If there was at all any doubt if Xbox and PC users had it bad after the PlayStation game announcements, it was all erased by the grand list of announcements in the Xbox and Bethesda games showcase on June 12, 2022. A marked moment in history. A list that kept giving. A right combination of AAA games and small, weird ones. And before I say another word, I will recall my caveat from last time — I am just reviewing game trailers. We don't know how the final games will turn out, and the showcase only provides a platform for the developers to stir up some hype. I will divide my most anticipated games into three sections — one big game, one indie game, and one for the fun.

Plague Tale: Requiem is by far my standout action-adventure game. The trailer looks stunning as a successor to Innocence. The visuals make it look like the Xbox's response to The Last of Us. The gameplay features an older, battle-worn Amicia, gruesome stealth kills, a crossbow, and lots of rats. The game is expected to release in 2022, and will be available on the Game Pass from Day One!

I'm finding it hard to describe The Last Case of Benedict Fox as anything but the overused 'hauntingly beautiful'. Because that's exactly what it is. The game is a side-scroller set in a twisted world of secret organisations. With the tying theme being a Lovecraftian Metroidvania, we descend into the memories of Benedict Fox to fight demons and uncover crimes. The problem is that we will have to wait till 2023 for this indie.

For my most awaited fun-game, it was a hard pick between the Sea of Thieves update and Minecraft Legends. But having recently finished Minecraft Dungeons, I am really excited for the franchise's foray into real-time strategy. The lands of Minecraft look spectacular in Legends, all ready for a battle against the piglins.

The showcase also subtly pushes us to make friends, with some headlining games like Diablo IV and Redfall featuring both co-op and cross-play. Towards the end of the showcase, I did feel a good sense of dread. Because there is no way that any single person would be able to play all these games to completion in the next few years at least. So many games, how exciting!

Naveen Reddy

VINOD PRABHAKAR IN AND AS MAADEVA

The actor plays the titular role in Naveen Reddy's upcoming directorial film, which is set in the 80s

A SHARADHAA

NAVEEN Reddy B, who marked his directorial debut with Chiranjeevi Sarja's Khaki, is now getting ready to helm his second project, which has Vinod Prabhakar in the lead role. Titled Maadeva, the project was launched today. Sharing a few still pictures with CE, Naveen opens up about the film.

"I have come up with an emotional drama with elements of mass for Vinod Prabhakar, who plays the titular role Maadeva. The entire story is set in the 80s, and it happens in the backdrop of a jail and a train," he says. The film will go on the floors on July 21 and will be shot in Shivamogga, Dharwad, and Hyderabad. Cinematography Balakrishna Thota, who has previously assisted Baahubali DOP Senthil Kumar, is part of the project. Praddyottan will be scoring music for the film, which is produced by producer Gayathri R'Halale. The makers are yet to rope in an actor for the female lead role. Shruti, Achyuth Kumar, and Suddhi are roped in for the film so far.

Meanwhile, Vinod Prabhakar, who was last seen in Roberrt, completed shooting for his next film, Lanka Sura. A film, directed by Pramod Kumar, will be the actor's first production venture, and also features Parvathy Arun as the female lead and has Yogi playing a pivotal character.

'MY ROLE AS VIKRAM IS RELATABLE TO ALL MIDDLE-CLASS HOUSEHOLDS'

...says Sunil Raoh, who talks about his comeback film, Thurthu Nirgamana, the film's director Hemanth Kumar, and co-star Raj B Shetty

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Hemanth Kumar's Thurthu Nirgamana brings together two interesting actors Sunil Raoh and Raj B Shetty as part of the ensemble cast that also consists of Sudha Rani, Achyuth Kumar, Hitha Chandrashekar, and Samyuktha Hegde among others. The dark comedy marks the comeback of Sunil.

The title of the film means Emergency Exit and has an interesting premise: what happens when a person is given a chance to relive the last few days of his life. In a conversation with CE ahead of the film's release on June 24, the two actors open up about the film.

Sunil Raoh was last seen in Premism which was released in 2010. When asked about the long hiatus he explains, "I wanted to take a small break because I felt I was getting monotonous. I planned to get back to acting much earlier, but it was delayed further by 6 to 7 years. Finally, after 12 years, I am back. However, I did a web series called Loose Connection, which brought me back to the silver screen."

Sunil notes the biggest change in the film industry that happened during his absence is the shift from film to digital cameras. "Earlier, with films, there was a lot of pressure on the actors and technicians because we worried about wasting film reels. So, we wouldn't take more than 2 or 3 takes and we didn't make too many mistakes. With the advancement in technology, people from different walks of life can come and follow their passion. Our director, Hemanth Kumar is one of the best examples. He's an engineer, who has quit his job because he wanted to make films. On the flip side, I feel things are taken for granted today because of the ease in filmmaking."

When probed about his role, Sunil reveals, "My role, Vikram, is relatable to all middle-class households. He is an intelligent guy with a laid-back attitude. He has no value for time and life, leads an aimless life, and is happy to be stuck in a rut. What happens when such a person faces an emergency and has no choice but to act? That's the crux of this story," says Sunil Raoh.

Talking about acting with a happening actor like Raj B Shetty, he says it was not intimidating though he has not been acting for a while. "I never felt insecure in my life, because I never had any great ambition of becoming a star. With whatever projects I have done, I built an image of a good enough actor and got the recognition of the people. Moreover, Raj is not one of the actors, who wants to go one up and stay ahead. We shared some intense scenes and our off-the-screen chemistry helped us do well. It was a learning experience for me, which translated very well on the screen. Whenever two actors come together for a film, there should be a sort of chemistry between them for the film to work. I admire co-artistes who are open to discussions as it makes my job interesting and easy," he says.

Sunil was also in praise of the director Hemanth Kumar. "The director has made such a good film that we should all be proud. I'm happy that the Kannada industry is getting another important director and someone who can contribute to the industry's growth." Sunil will officially announce the next project after the release of Thurthu Nirgamana.

THOUGH MY ROLE IS SMALL, ITS IMPACT IS BIG: RAJ B SHETTY

Raj B Shetty

CE FEATURES

RAJ B Shetty plays the role of a cab driver named Shivu. "It is the first script I got to read after Ondhu Motteya Kathe. It was the well-written character that caught my interest. Even though my role is small, the impact will be big," Raj says.

Talking about working with Sunil, he says, "Working with him was a joy. Even though we both come from two different schools of cinema, we got along well on the sets. When you are committed to the film, you have to observe fellow actors, understand their rhythm, and adjust accordingly for the betterment of the film. That way Sunil supported my scenes and performance. I consider this as a good collaboration," he says.

Calling it a sci-fi genre, Raj says that Thurthu Nirgama is a very apt title for the film and strongly recommends it for all individuals. "Every individual at one point wishes to travel back in time and correct something about their life. The title and the film are all about that," he signs off.
